SULLIVAN TO GET NAME ON PRIMARY TICKET

Supreme Court Decides in His Favor and Against Election Commissioners

DECLARES HE'S DOWNED SPRECKELS AND PHELAN

Jubilant Over His Success and Looks for Victory at the Polls

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Attorney Francis J. Sullivan will have his name side by side with P. H. McNamee on the Union Labor ticket for mayor at the primary election, as a result of a decision handed down by the Supreme Court this morning. Sullivan is jubilant at his victory over the board of election commissioners and declared, in an interview, that he had put the Spreckels-Phelan forces to rout, and was, in consequence, on the road to a triumph.

Sullivan applied to the Supreme Court for an alternative writ compelling the election commission to figure the Union Labor vote together with the Good Government League vote at 13,000, and make that the basis of the number of petitions necessary to secure a place on the ballot. He contended that it was unfair to add the Democratic vote of 21,000 to this number, in accordance with the plans put through by the election commission, and he alleges a scheme on the part of Spreckels and Phelan to defeat him. Under the latter arrangement he would have required 1029 petitions in order to have his name on the ballot, whereas now he needs only 791. These he has already secured, and so Sullivan claims a victory on the first lap of the great political campaign.

The Supreme Court, by making the writ permanent, this morning decided in Sullivan's favor.

Taft Anxious to Meet President Diaz

WASHINGTON, July 15.—A meeting between President Taft and President Diaz of Mexico not being practically assured for about the middle of October, the President and his cabinet are giving some attention to arrangements for carrying out such an unusual and notable event.

Exchanges are in progress between the two executives, Taft, it was said today, having taken the initiative in expressing a wish that the heads of the two great republics of North America might come together.

Suggestions have been made that the two executives clap hands under a canopy erected midway on the international bridge at El Paso, or that they in turn visit either shore and extend their well wishes at those places.

Patton Heads Tax List of Evanston

CHICAGO, July 15.—James A. Patton, who is said by fellow members of the board of trade to have made a profit of $75,000 within twenty-four hours, yesterday found himself on top of the list of Evanston taxpayers and his option on this distinction he purposed not to cast out for some time.

Patton was assessed this year on $500,000 of personal property, which is twice the amount levied last year.

"How much personal property ought I to assess on you this year, Mr. Patton?" asked Assessor Milne.

"How much was it last year?" said Patton.

"Something like $250,000," responded the assessor.

"Never mind the figure," Patton interrupted. "Whatever it was, just double it now. Reckon that'll fix it about right."

Suffragettes Hold Meeting in Breakers

BOSTON, July 15.—Woman's Suffrage was proclaimed above the pounding of the surf at Nantasket Beach yesterday by a party of Boston suffragettes, who, after a luncheon at the hotel, commenced a meeting in the water out of reach of a Metropolitan Park police officer. Had the officer sought to stop the violation of the park rules of holding a meeting on public property without a permit, he would have had to do a bathing suit, which he did not do.

A leader of the party talked at length of the points in favor of woman suffrage, and an attentive crowd of several hundred assembled on the beach and in the water.

Maude Adams Will Not Appear In Greek Theater of Berkeley In Tights or Even Otherwise

Here are three pictures of Maude Adams, the noted actress, who will not be allowed to appear in the Greek Theater in Berkeley in tights or otherwise. At the top to the left is Maude Adams in "Peter Pan." To the right is a portrait as she appears in private life. At the bottom is Miss Adams as Joan of Arc.

Maude Adams will NOT appear at the Greek Theater in her world-famous production of "Joan of Arc," in which she parades the stage in armor, booted and spurred AND—whisper it softly in the sacred precincts of the college town's Grecian temple of art—IN TIGHTS.

So much has been determined, and today the edict was issued by the faculty through Professor Ames, chairman of the musical and dramatic committee of the university. There is no criticism of the charming actress in the formal quashing of the rumor that she is to appear here on her milk-white change with a company of 2000, as at Harvard University—there is even a gentle intimation that perhaps Miss Adams herself will refuse the honor, but—well, she is not to write herself in the historic annals of Berkeley as "Joan of Arc."

"It is against the established policy of our committee to have professional talent at the Greek Theater," says Professor Ames, and, ah—Miss Adams has not, and will not, be asked to appear here as the Maid of Orleans. I do not know who was responsible for the announcement that she would. I can only say that it has not been sanctioned by the university."

There is just a chance, of course, that the suffragettes will take up the cudgels in defense of the woman of history who rode at the head of her own troops when men were lacking, and afterward, her sex forgotten, was martyred at the stake for the cause she championed, but so far no such steps have been taken.

The fact that Miss Adams' production of the play in which she appeared in armor and tights has been considered the greatest achievement of its kind ever performed in America, lends a serious element to the refusal to let her play here.

At Harvard University she was royally welcomed, people from far States journeying to witness the classic masterpiece, which was given before an audience of 50,000. The explanation that professional talent is not permitted at the Greek Theater rather loses weight in view of the fact that Miss Adams herself appeared there two years ago with marked success, and has since been followed by Ben Greer's players, Julia Marlowe, Nance O'Neil and any number of other popular stars.

The outgrowth of the controversy promises to be interesting.

Building Collapses; Several Are Killed and Score Are Injured

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—Several persons were killed and about a score injured by the collapse this afternoon of a portion of a five-story brick building at the northeast corner of Eleventh and Market streets.

The wreckage is piled 30 feet high and the number of killed will not be definitely known until the debris is cleared away.

The building is an old fashioned one and was being remodeled. Rescuers dragged eight persons from the ruins. They were five men, two women and a boy.

Up to 3:40 p. m. five dead workmen had been taken from the ruins and the police say there were still more under the wreckage.

MEN LURE HER TO ROOM IS CLAIM OF WOMAN

Startling Charge is Made and Two Are Arrested by Officers.

VICIOUSLY ASSAULTED, SHE TELLS POLICE

Investigation is Held and Pair Are Then Taken into Custody

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Sobbing out a story of assault, committed in broad daylight in the business section of Haight street, with hundreds of people passing by, Mrs. J. Sergeant, of 1576 Ocean Boulevard, made startling charges against David Frechtlenbrog and Henry Brochmann, which resulted in their arrest late last night.

According to the story told by the woman, several days ago a man called upon her and received a suit to be cleaned and pressed. It was not returned at the time agreed upon, and yesterday morning she called at the renovatory at 1731 Haight street, to inquire about it. She claims that she tendered the money in payment, but was informed that the work had not been completed, and that she would have to wait.

She asserts that the two accused men talked to her and finally inveigled her into going into a rear room, where, she alleges, she was viciously assaulted by both.

Then she maintains that she once more demanded the suit of clothes, and threatened to complain to the police, but declares that Frechtlenbrog showed a star for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and threatened to arrest her if she remained.

Tells Story to Police

Frightened into a state of extreme nervousness, and with tears streaming down her cheeks, she ran from the place and sought the Park police station, where, in a labored and incoherent manner, she told the details of the startling episode to Sergeant Rainbury.

That officer detailed Policemen Hooper, Reilly and De Guire to investigate. The three patrolmen proceeded to the place on Haight street, and after a thorough investigation "looked Frechtlenbrog and Brochmann into custody and booked them at the city prison."

Mrs. Sergeant is in an extremely nervous condition, and is so wrought up over her adventure that she was forced to take to her bed.

More Trouble for Millionaire Dunphy

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—James Dunphy, hero of many matrimonial experiences, having dropped his annulment suit and taken "Dodie" Valencia, his latest wife, to his heart, is not to be allowed to rest in peace and quietness. Not only has his sister made application for guardianship papers to his great discomfort, but today a warrant was procured for his arrest for passing a fictitious check. The check was used way back on February 8, 1908, according to the complaint of George Cornet, proprietor of a Hammam bath house in this city.

Dunphy is alleged to have tendered it, made out in the sum of $100, and drawn on the United States National Bank, where he had no funds.

Dr. Sheppard's Case Continued

"Doctor" W. C. Sheppard, who is accused of assaulting half a dozen women and girls, responding to his advertisement for an assistant in the manure business, has his case continued in the police court this morning until Saturday next, at which time he will be tried on a charge preferred by Miss Lily M. Smith, a 15 year old high school girl.

Big Liner Goes Ashore in Channel

NEW YORK, July 15.—The steamer Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm which left today for Bremen, ran aground in the Ambrose channel on her way down the bay. She is in an easy position and is expected to be released on the rising tide.

Up to 3:40 p. m. five dead workmen had been taken from the ruins and the police say there were still more under the wreckage.

USE CLUBS TO STEAMER PLOWS INTO QUELL RIOT AND STOP STRIKERS

Detachment of Pennsylvania State Constabulary Are Attacked.

DASH THROUGH CROWD MOUNTED ON HORSES

Thirty Persons are Shot or Wounded Thus Far in Trouble.

PITTSBURGH, July 15.—The situation at the Pressed Steel Car Company at McKees Rocks, adjacent to this city, where 3500 men are on strike, is quiet today. Following a night of disorder, in which thirty persons were shot or beaten, a detachment of the Pennsylvania State Constabulary arrived early today, and soon after the rioting stopped.

When the police arrived they stationed their horses inside the steel plant and then took positions outside. A moment later a brick struck one of the troopers. Instantly the mill gate was thrown open, several troopers vaulted into the saddle and dashed into a crowd of strikers and sympathizers.

As they galloped through the crowd the state police struck right and left with heavy riot clubs. The crowd became demoralized under the terrific assault and fled in all directions.

That incident occurred at daybreak. Since that time the strikers have satisfied themselves by congregating at the gates of the mill.

Thousands on Strike

Between 25,000 and 30,000 workmen, coal miners, tin and sheet plate workers and members of the various steel crafts—are on strike today throughout western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia.

A majority of the idle men are in the Pittsburgh district. Excepting the strike at the Pressed Steel Car Company at McKees Rocks, where rioting occurred last night and early today resulting in the shooting and beating of thirty persons, the strikers are orderly.

Grievances include the alleged violation of the eight-hour work day and recognition of organized labor.

The trouble is spreading to the independent sheet and tin plate plants and there is apparently no hope for adjustment.

Twelve Are Injured

Twelve persons were injured when members of the Pennsylvania State Constabulary and steel strikers clashed today at the plant of the Pressed Steel Car Company, McKees Rocks. Three of the injured are in a serious condition. More than a score of the strikers and their sympathizers were placed under arrest.

Two hundred deputies and special officers are on duty.

For the present the police are shooting over the heads of the strikers.

Award Contract for New Railroad

VANCOUVER, July 15.—The contract for building 180 miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific between McLeod river and Tete Juane Cache, which will carry the line through fifty miles to the west of the Yellowstone pass, in the Rocky mountains, has been awarded.

Rails are being laid from Edmonton west to McLeod river, to which point it is announced, trains will be running from Winnipeg by September. The railway company is also calling for tenders to be by August 15 for the construction of 140 miles of line from Kitsas canyon to Aldemore, in the Buckley valley.

Insurance Concerns Sue Gas Company

Holding the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company responsible for the fire that in December, 1908, damaged the apartment house at 14 East Fourteenth street, owned by Flora V. Larson, to the extent of $4645, the Atlas Assurance Company of London and the Hartford Fire Insurance Company today instituted suits in the Superior Court to recover from the local corporation the money they have paid to Mrs. Larson on policies covering the risk which she carried with them.

Plaintiff companies attribute the origin of the fire to gas alleged to have escaped from defective pipes installed in the building by the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company. The Atlas Assurance Company asks for a judgment of $3485.18 and the Hartford company wants $1161.73. The amounts they allege they have respectively paid in settlement of the policyholder's claims against them.

John D. Spreckels Buys a Railroad

SAN DIEGO, July 15.—With the filing of articles of incorporation here this afternoon it became known that John D. Spreckels has purchased the Cucamonga railroad, which extends from here to Foster, a distance of twenty-six miles.

BRITISH FLEET WHILE DRILL IS BEING HELD

One Vessel Goes Down and Two Others Are Damaged as Result of the Collision

CROMER, Eng., July 15.—The British submarine designated as C. 11 was sunk last night by the cargo steamer Eddystone at a point four and a half miles northwest of the Haisborough lightship.

Thirteen members of the vessel's crew went to the bottom with her and only three were saved. Lieutenants Brokie and Wallins are among the survivors. The third man probably was a sailor.

The cruiser Bonaventure with a flotilla of eight submarines was proceeding in a southerly direction when the Eddystone ran in among the vessels and collided with C. 11. The submarine was stove in and went down immediately.

The submarines C. 16 and C. 17 in endeavoring to avoid a collision with the freighter ran into each other. C. 17 was damaged but there were no fatalities on board either craft.

Battleships and cruisers with salvage appliances were signalled for and reached the scene in the course of the morning. C. 11 lies in fifteen fathoms of water. Wire hawsers have been passed under her and it is hoped that she can be raised at once.

Husband Refuses to Quit Playing Cards, So Wife Asks Divorce

Applying to the Superior Court today for a divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty, Ethel M. King said in her complaint that when she remonstrated with her husband, Walter King, for gambling he told her in an angry tone and manner that "If you don't like me and my cards you may pack your clothes and go, for I will never quit playing cards for you."

The couple were married in Santa Barbara in 1903 and Mrs. King is at present residing in Alameda. She also alleges that King has repeatedly beaten her and says that one night while she was away from home her husband made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the room of a young lady friend of his wife, who was rooming in the house, and says that "When you stay home with me you know what to expect."

Mrs. King states that when she was informed of her spouse's licentious conduct and reproved him for it, his only reply was, "Mach was the (roomer) had good reasons for locking her door."

One day not long after the episode, according to the complaint, King had a quarrel with his wife, during which he said, referring to their little children: "I'll give those damn little brats to the other child, she don't belong to me anyway." Then he ordered his wife to quit the house to "do what was right." "If you are here when I come home tonight I will kick you into the street."

Mrs. King says that her husband's cruelty finally became unbearable and she was forced to leave him. Then there was a reconciliation and she returned to him on his promise to "do what was right." For awhile King behaved himself, the complaint sets forth, but one day he broke loose again. He accused his wife of "cheating" with other men and spending his money on them, and when finally she left him for good King told her that if she did not return home and continue to live with him he would kill her and then commit suicide.

Plaintiff wants the custody of the two children and $50 a month in alimony and for their support and maintenance.

Pure Marriage Doctrine of Sister Causes Man to Attempt to End Life

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—While Emma Mabel Taylor, the beautiful young Washington enthusiast, who has done so much to put through the new marriage law in the northern state, is jubilant over what has been done by her state, her brother, Harry Taylor, aged 26 years, despondent by the result of the very law, attempted to commit suicide at an early hour this morning at the corner of Third and Howard streets.

He was discovered by Policeman M. J. Cullinan shortly after he had swallowed a quantity of arsenic, which he had purchased but a short time previous from the Baer drug store, 722 Market street.

At the Central Emergency Hospital, after a liberal use of the stomach pump, it was stated that Taylor would recover. He admitted that he had been come despondent through reading an article entitled "Pure Marriage," in which his sister Emma had been quoted at some length.

He had been working here in the humble capacity of a waiter and absolutely declined to inform either the hospital authorities or the police where he has been living. He swallowed the poison at 2 a. m., and at 7:30 he insisted upon getting up and leaving the hospital, a terrible statement which set forth that he had refused to remain.

Why he had become despondent through reading of his sister's efforts to improve the marriage law throughout the country had resulted in unhappiness to him and his.

Infatuated With an Actress, Money Gives Out, So Commits Suicide

NEW YORK, July 15.—Suicide today ended the gay career of a wealthy young Cuban, Juan Balsinde, who shot himself in his apartment at 211 East Fourteenth street. Nearly 200 seat checks from theaters, some memoranda and a letter indicated that he had been infatuated with an actress and had followed her from place to place in Cuba and this country.

He killed himself, it is believed, because his money had given out and his love affair had lost its interest.

Balsinde, who was 26 years of age, had been attending a school at Poughkeepsie. He returned to this country from Cuba several months ago, following the company the actress was playing with.

Among the memoranda in the youth's room were notes showing that his expenses from June 8 to July 4 had been $448.

A letter, apparently written by his mother, said that no more money would be sent him unless he returned to his school at Poughkeepsie.

Contents of Mysterious Packet to Solve Murder of Man of Wealth

CRESCENT CITY, Ill., July 15.—Contents of the private packet left by the late banker, J. B. Saylor, opened today, are said to be of a startling nature. According to W. R. Nightingale, who was present when the secret papers were read by the brothers of the decedent, the contents, which they refused to divulge, have a direct bearing on the killing of Mr. Saylor by Dr. W. L. Miller last Sunday as a result of the alleged attachment of Mrs. Saylor and Dr. Miller.

"We can't give what we found to the public, at least not now," said Mr. Nightingale. "I will say, however, that it is evidence which will prove of value to the prosecution of Dr. Miller, who is charged with murder, and of Mrs. Saylor, charged with being an accessory."

As soon as the contents of the packet were learned by Thomas A. Willis, brother of the late banker, and Mr. Nightingale, States Attorney Pallasard at Watseka was notified by telephone. The state's attorney at once came to this village.

DECIDE NOT TO PRESS DIVORCE SUITS

J. J. Topper and Wife Drop Charges Made Against Each Other

PEACE REIGNS WHERE WAR ONCE WAS WAGED

Family Skeleton, After Vigorous Airing, Is Thrust Back Into Closet

Following some very sensational divorce proceedings, which took place in May of this year, between Thomas J. Topper and his wife, Jean C. Topper, in which, following Mrs. Topper's complaint for divorce, Topper filed a cross-complaint, charging his wife with bigamy, habitual drunkenness, and otherwise "disgraceful" conduct, is the announcement made today by Mrs. Topper that she and her husband have had a complete reconciliation.

At the time of the divorce proceedings, in which Topper brought the felony charge against his wife, he alleged that Mrs. Topper, in March, 1907, married one, John B. Dancer, in San Francisco, from whom she had not been divorced. In spite of this marriage, two years later, Topper declared, she went through the ceremony that had since bound Topper to her.

Wanted It "Cinched"

He stated that up to the time of the divorce proceedings brought against him he was totally ignorant of the existence of a lawful husband, and yet, while he thought this sufficient ground upon which he would be able to secure an annulment of his marriage vows, he proceeded to cite in evidence of Mrs. Topper's alleged cruelties to him while they lived together, to "cinch" his cross-complaint.

Lost His Position

Immediately after this episode, so Topper's story went, Mrs. Topper's conduct is alleged to have become so disgraceful that Topper lost the position he then held with the Pacific Blower and Heating Company.

BOY THROWS KNIFE IN TUSSEL; STABS BROTHERS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—While tussling with his brother, at his home, 519 Fell street, at 8:30 o'clock, this morning, Philip Dolan, a clerk, received a severe stab in the left hand. According to the story told by the young man at the hospital, his brother had thrown an open knife at him, which struck him in the hand. He admitted that although the two had been fooling playfully, that they became heated after a while, and decided that he would have a joke in being cut. His wound was dressed by Dr. Tillman. No report of the affair was made to the police.

S. P. TO ELECTRIFY SIERRA BRANCH

$13,000,000 to Be Expended On Conversion of Mountain Line Power

NEW YORK, July 15.—A cable message from E. H. Harriman, expected daily by the officers of the Southern Pacific Company, will authorize the beginning of electrification of the Sacramento division of that road from Reno to Sacramento. The work will cost $13,000,000.

Several of Harriman's aides — over-riding steam propulsion men — have tried for three years to stave off the inevitable. The enormous cost has been one of their chief arguments, but for protest along that line they found Harriman cared little or nothing.

Experts of the General Electric and Westinghouse companies have made many trips over the division.

The snows along the mountain division has proved the special bane of the electrical engineer. Certain engineers argue that the third rail would be better than the trolley, because an overhead wire would menace the shed roofs with fire.

Electrification will take two years. The steam alternative is to tunnel and thus get lower grades permitting faster hauling. This would take eight years and cost $40,000,000 to $50,000,000.

The engineers proved to Harriman's aides that by using electricity 75 per cent would be gained in speed and at least 50 per cent out of the non-profitable tonnage because of the reduction in machinery and weight of engines.

FEAR RISE IN MISSOURI RIVER

Manufacturing Concerns Move Stocks to Higher Ground, Fearing Storms

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—The Missouri river last night and today registers 25.3 feet above flood stage. The Missouri river is moving its waters over the levees, which the citizens are counting on to protect them.

Five thousand acres of farm lands were flooded early today by the Missouri river. The Missouri river is moving its waters over the levees, which the citizens are counting on to protect them.

WIFE GETS HER DECREE, CHANGES HER MIND

Mrs. E. Williams, formerly of Chico and 275 East Twelfth street, Oakland, but now residing at 1457 Geary street, San Francisco, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Wells from Allice C. Williams, a former of Butte County, California, because of his habitual intemperance. She told the court that her maiden name was Brown, and when asked by her attorney if she desired to resume it, she said: "I would just as soon keep the name of Williams. At first I thought that I would like to have a maiden name back, but have since changed my mind."

FLEES WITH AFFINITY, WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Because her husband eloped to Texas with a woman he loved better than his wife, on money he is alleged to have stolen from the Southern Pacific Company, by which he was employed, Mary Jane Frazer, a dressmaker, residing at 664 Telegraph avenue, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Wells and the right to resume her maiden name of Morgan.

Noted Preacher to Preside at Convention of Bible Students

REV. C. T. RUSSELL of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, Who Will Officiate During Bible Students' Convention.

The first general convention of Bible students ever held on the Pacific Coast will convene in Oakland July 17-19-19, under the auspices of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, New York. The meetings are not only for the purpose of lecturing on the Bible history, but also for the purpose of discussing the various events of its formation.

One of the features of the convention is that it is to be entirely universal, there being no distinction of religion, all believers in the "Bible for All" being cordially welcomed.

Brother Russell is a distinguished and fluent speaker and is so well known throughout the United States and Europe that he needs but a slight introduction. He preaches on earth to the largest congregation on earth, and draws the vast throngs simply by his broad minded views and alluring personality. His sermons are published weekly and are more universal than the works of any writer of fiction or religion. Many of his articles are accepted by the magazines.

TARIFF A BAR TO PROSPERITY

"When It Is Out of Way Better Times Will Result," Says Hill

WASHINGTON, July 15.—"As soon as the tariff is out of the way," said James H. Hill, the railroad magnate, who yesterday was one of President Taft's advisers, "the country will be better off, and the times will be better." Hill, who is a member of the Tariff Commission, said that the tariff is a bar to prosperity, and that it is a hindrance to the country's growth.

CONFIDING GIRL LOSES HER HEART

Charges Made Against Alcatraz Postmaster by Domestic

CLAIMS ALSO THAT SHE GAVE UP $185 IN CASH

Fallen Victims to Love-Making of the Accused

LOST.—The heart of a trusting and confiding woman, and $185 in coin. This is the predicament in which Miss Olga Ahlstrom, a domestic, of San Francisco, finds herself, after a somewhat brief, but ardent, wooing on the part of August Liljefeld, postmaster at Alcatraz. That her heart is gradually being restored to its proper place was evidenced yesterday, when Miss Ahlstrom secured a warrant for the postmaster's arrest from Judge Shortall of the San Francisco police court on a charge of obtaining money from her under promise of marriage.

Became Very Loving

Miss Ahlstrom, who is at present employed in a residence in Fell street, near Steiner, San Francisco, went to that city about ten months ago. Some time after this she met Liljefeld. He immediately began paying attention to her, she states, and when it became known that she had saved a comfortable little sum in the bank, with which to aid her parents in the old country, his attentions became quite loving, so loving, in fact, that soon the little bank account began to dwindle. They were subsequently engaged, she states, and his wooing was ardent in the extreme—at least, until her money was all gone. Then, she says, she began to sit up and take notice, for, as the bank account diminished, his love diminished in kind, until he finally deserted her altogether.

No Money Back

"One day I met him on the street with another girl," Miss Ahlstrom said, "and I asked him if he did not intend to keep his promise to marry me. He said he never had made me such a promise, and I then asked him to return the money I had given him. He said he would give me back my money, if I would let him have my testaments, which he said were worth more than the money. I gave him the testaments, and he gave me back my money. I have learned of many other girls who have suffered the same experience as I have at the hands of Liljefeld," she said yesterday. "I propose to find them and have them testify when his trial comes up. I am sure they will do so, for I have already talked with several of them and they have told me their experiences with him. He has been very clever, and he has been very successful in his work. He has been very successful in his work. He has been very successful in his work."

FEITER FILES POLICE

With Bogus Half-Pieces Through Street Cars

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Secret agents of the United States government are making every effort to detect counterfeiters who are fitting the city with a quantity of fifty-cent pieces. It has been found that the counterfeiters are using the coin by riding a fourth on the east of the United States and so perfectly that it is almost impossible to tell from the genuine.

The money appearing on the counterfeit pieces has been copied almost exactly. It is thought that a perfect steel die with the hands of the police man, fully equipped with a dark complexion, a tall, weighing 160 pounds, a derby hat and dark

THE CHUTES IS OPEN AGAIN

"Fall of Bastille" Commemorated by Thousands; New Park Excels Old One

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—With twice as many features as were seen at the old grounds south of Golden Gate Park, the new Chutes opened in merry, joyous fashion yesterday afternoon and continued until an early hour this morning. It is estimated that between 20,000 and 40,000 persons attended, and the "Fall of Bastille" was commemorated by a section of the French colony, who celebrated by means of an all-night masked ball.

The principal attractions, the chutes, scenic railroad, and circle swing, formed the chief amusements for the enthusiastic multitude, but a great deal of attention was paid to a new joy device, known as the double wheel, which soon became the focus of a big section of the crowd. The Royal Banta Roma presented a high class musical program, and the high dive of Florence Spray and the dash of the sensational Desperado were features of both afternoon and evening.

The Chutes is to be open every day of the year from noon until midnight, and the management is constructing a large theater on the grounds.

THOUSANDS APPLY FOR FREE FARMS

Applications for Chances in Government Land Lottery Now Being Received

SPOKANE, July 15.—From 20,000 to 30,000 red, white and blue envelopes, so very plain but for their patriotic colors, are being dropped in the postoffices at Spokane, Coeur d'Alene, Missoula and Kalispell today, addressed to James W. Witten, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Each blue envelope holds the application of some man or woman who wants a farm to the Spokane Indian reservation—the red and white envelopes call for land in the Coeur d'Alene or Flathead reserves. Each week day till August 5 this rush will continue, but the man who takes the oath on a Sunday forfeits his chance.

At midnight, about thirty early enthusiasts, hoping to catch luck by being the very first, hurried to take the oath before the notaries and started the applications on their way. But the real rush began early this morning and all day the crowds have kept coming rapidly. By night it is estimated 7000 will have registered in Spokane alone.

There is no strife, no disorder and with 150 notaries and their assistants the work is moving forward rapidly and smoothly. The total cost for each application is 25 cents notaries' fee and a two-cent stamp.

Coeur d'Alene reports that 600 applicants registered there up to 1 o'clock this morning. The rush of home-seekers threatens to more than double the population of that Idaho town. In spite of the 2000 extra cops placed in store-rooms yesterday, finding a place to sleep may be a hard problem by Saturday when the first crowds from the East come in from Missoula and Kalispell.

Prepares for Drawing

In Superintendent Witten's office for lands in three reserves more than 100,000 red, white and blue envelopes, each class being put in a big metal box by itself. These boxes will be constantly under guard until the drawing takes place next month and from August 5 they are to be under seal.

Realizing that if 100,000 people apply for lands in these reserves more than

BUSINESS MEN TO TAKE THEIR TIME

Will Not Give Endorsement of Republican Candidates Till Tuesday Next

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—There will be no endorsements of Republican candidates for municipal officers by the city's committee of twenty-five until Tuesday next. The committee determined at its first meeting, held in the St. Francis hotel, yesterday afternoon.

Charles M. Plum was chosen chairman of the committee and Louis A. Stiger secretary. All the members were present except William M. Watson, Paul N. Nihper, Edward P. Berry and Jeremiah Leoney.

Thus far only two of the four announced Republican candidates for the mayoralty have filed petitions which have been accepted as correct by the registrar. They are D. J. Grauman and R. H. Cronin. It is understood, however, that Byron Maury and William Crocker have their petitions in readiness for filing.

Republican Candidates

Last evening Registrar Zemansky stated that the following Republican candidates had complied with the requirements of the direct primary law entitling them to a place on the ballot:

Mayor—David J. Grauman, R. H. Cronin, Mayor.

District Attorney—Nathan C. Coghan, Charles M. Fickler.

City Attorney—Dorsey V. Long.

County Clerk—John J. Groff.

Auditor—Robert W. Dennis.

Tax Collector—John W. Rogers, David Bush.

Treasurer—John E. McDougald.

Recorder—John A. Halpin.

Coroner—Benjamin Apple, C. O'Donnell.

Supervisor—J. F. Jewell, Charles Robinson, Theodore Lundstedt, Louis E. Beaudry, P. H. Hanson, August Martin Wallen, H. Fred Suber, R. H. Cronin.

Police Judge—Edward P. Shortall, Benjamin I. Bloch, George M. Lipman.

Democrats Meet

The Democratic county committee met in Judge Graham's courtroom last evening and adopted a call for a municipal convention, to be held August 23rd and to consist of 143 delegates, apportioned by assembly districts as follows:

Twenty-eighth, 3 twenty-ninth, 2, thirtieth, 4 thirty-first, 3, thirty-second, 13, thirty-third, 16, thirty-fourth, 16, thirty-fifth, 10, thirty-sixth, 6, thirty-seventh, 15, thirty-eighth, 11, thirty-ninth, 15, fortieth, 7, forty-first, 7, forty-second, 2, forty-third, 2, forty-fourth, 2, forty-fifth, 4.

Municipal conventions under the new law are empowered to frame local party platforms and name a county committee. The delegates to these conventions are elected at the August primaries, each being left on the ballots for pastures or the names can be written in.

While the Republicans will have four candidates for Mayor contesting the primaries, the Democrats will have but two, Dr. P. W. Leelan, the Coroner, who is supported by the "organization" of which Gavin McNamara is the acknowledged leader, and Ralph McFarlan, now Supervisor and the choice of the San Francisco Democratic Club. The petitions of both have been filed and verified.

Other Democratic aspirants for municipal office who have safely run the gauntlet of the Registrar's clerks are: Charles T. Conlan, Police Judge; L. J. Dolan, Sheriff; Edmond Godechaux, Recorder; M. H. Hynes, Public Administrator; J. Emmet Hayden and Henry C. Colman, Supervisors, and George James and Thomas J. Glynn, County Clerks.

Petitions Filed

But two petitions have been filed for the office of District Attorney. Both are Republican. One is C. Coghan, former Assemblyman, and Charles M. Fickler, who had to come off the Union Labor ticket, because he was not registered as a voter with that party. It is probable that the office will be left vacant on the Democratic ballot.

Fickler may receive endorsement from the Citizens' Committee of Twenty-five. Daniel A. Ryan having positively declined to become a candidate.

Here is the Union Labor Party ticket filed with the Registrar, the signatures to the petitions having been verified by his deputies:

Mayor, P. H. McCarthy; Sheriff, Thomas Flint; Police Judge, John J. Sullivan; Recorder, Harry D. Polmann; County Clerk, Harry I. Mulerey.

Supervisors—John O. Walsh, Frank J. Gage, John L. Herget, P. J. Noone, Timothy P. Kneelschlag, Timothy D. Realy, John R. Kneelschlag, Cornelius Duany, B. B. Rosenthal, William C. Pugh, Robert J. Loughrey.

FRENCH BALL IS SCENE OF AFFRAY

Dancer Is Stabbed in Arm by Companion During Early Morning

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—There were several minor disputes in the wee small hours of the morning, growing out of the excitement and wild spirits of some of those who participated in the French ball at the Auditorium pavilion. There was only one serious affray, however, and as a result of the police investigation, a French clerk, who was booked at the city prison on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

No one seems to know how the affair started, but Frank Eggers, of 222 Lombard street, was seen to stagger and fall during a row, his right arm covered with blood. He was hurriedly taken up by the police and hurried to the Central Emergency Hospital, where it was found that he had received a dangerous deep laceration, four inches long, which penetrated the muscle and touched the bone. Detectives Lyons and Watt were detailed on the case and at 6 o'clock Roberts was arrested.

When seen at the city prison he declared that the man who came at him and he had protected himself, but refused to say more.

HORNICK LEAVING STATE; CHARGE IS DISMISSED

The charge of practicing dentistry without a license preferred against S. C. Hornick was dismissed on motion of the prosecuting attorney this morning. Hornick stated he was leaving the state.

90,000 must fail to draw winning numbers, the business men of Spokane and other towns are shaping plans to direct those who are left out to vacant homestead lands in other districts of eastern Washington and northern Idaho, where hundreds may find homes.

"The Servant in the House" Is Departure From Usual Drama

CHAS. DALTON As Bob, the Dain Man, in "The Servant in the House" at the Macdonough All This Week Closing Saturday Night.

"The Servant in the House" which will be presented at the Macdonough Theater the rest of this week, with Saturday matinee, is a distinct departure from the conventional drama of the day. The author, Charles Rann Kennedy, has followed the old Greek rule, preserving the unities. There is but one scene, a room in a clergyman's house, which remains unchanged throughout the five acts. The story of the play is continuous, the curtain descending on a climax, only to rise immediately for the next scene. An intermission is permitted between the first and second and third and fourth acts, but the characters are discovered in the following act in the same attitude in which they were seen when the curtain fell before the intermission. The time of the play is the time of the story—three hours of a spring morning. The play is a modern comedy of the best type, contrasting genuine humor with moving pathos. The lines are written in exquisitely pure English, and two of the speeches have been pronounced by competent critics to be masterpieces of eloquence.

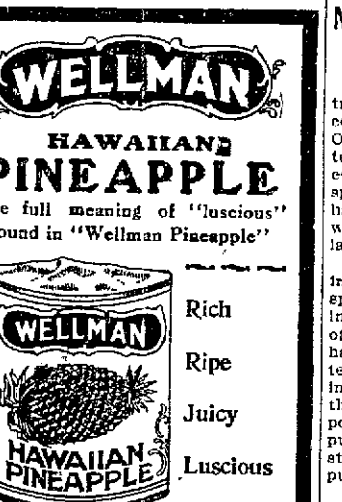

PROSECUTION SPY CREATES MIRTH

Burns Detective, Disguised as Blind Pencil Seller, Fools Nobody at Caucus

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—A display of "prosecution politics" as demonstrated by a detective who, in the guise of a blind pencil seller, was sent to gather details of a meeting of the "Regular" Republican politicians at the Union hall of much mirth among the delegates who were not at all deceived by the ruse. In fact, so interested did the business men thus watched become in the spectacle of the detective sweltering in the sun that untimely mirth almost put an end to the more serious business of the session.

Jack Spreckels freely declares that the detective was sent by those engaged in prosecuting crime and politics at the same time. He mingled some indignation with his laughter. But the others laughed and then, when the blind man, tired of the long wait for the breaking up of the session, pulled out his watch and looked at the time, the laughter nearly broke up the meeting. That really seemed quite an amusing sight to see a blind man looking at his watch.

And then, when those heartless business men finally discharged the detective, they gave him a good laugh. The blind man, with his pencils in his hand, walked away, each giving that poor blind man with the pencils an individual "ha-ha" as he passed.

AGED PEDESTRIAN WALKS 400 MILES

Edward Payson Weston Finishes Trans-Continental Tramp in 105 Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Edward Payson Weston, the aged pedestrian who has crossed the continent in 105 days, left New York for this city on his seventieth birthday, arrived here at 10:15 o'clock last night.

Weston left New York on the afternoon of March 15, to tramp across the continent. On the way over he has camped both night and day. The distance is figured at 4215 miles, but he actually covered 4000 miles. The actual time was 105 days, 5 hours and 41 minutes. It is Weston's custom to rest on Sunday. The Sabbath day was set aside as a day of leisure.

Weston could not tramp across the continent without many adverse conditions, which prevented him from covering the distance in 100 days. Through Wyoming and Colorado the conditions were against him. Windstorms, rainstorms and the elements were misbehaving and he found progress difficult.

The elements were at their worst in Wyoming. "Storms would come up," he said, "and would take one up, he would be blown back. This part of the journey was slow. I rested at night at ranch houses or any place I could find shelter."

Weston averaged about 38 miles a day on his tramp, but he has a record of walking 125 miles in 24 hours.

This morning he will go to the post-office building and deliver a talk. Fiske the letter which was handed to him by the postmaster of New York.

Delivers Letter

When Edward Payson Weston, today handed to Postmaster Arthur G. Fiske the letter given him by Postmaster Morgan of New York on March 15 last, the little ceremony ended one of the most remarkable feats of pedestrianism on record. Although Weston was four days behind the schedule he had set for himself when he stepped off the Oakland ferry last night, the old man was not discouraged.

"It was a great walk," he said, and "for unforeseen difficulties and hardships in the last three weeks of my journey, I would have been here on the hundredth day. Still, I am getting fine and could do it over again."

Weston, slept late this morning and was in no hurry to deliver his letter to Postmaster Fiske. "I dare say it can wait a few hours," he said, and went in to a late breakfast. It was after noon when he started from his hotel to the postoffice, about half a mile distant, where the postmaster was waiting for him.

NEW MEDICAL INSPECTOR ARRIVES IN OAKLAND

Dr. N. K. Foster, former secretary of the State Board of Health, who was recently appointed medical inspector of the Oakland school department, arrived yesterday, and is making preparations to establish his residence in this city. He speaks very highly of the work which has already been done along the line which he is to take charge of in Oakland.

Dr. Foster spent considerable time in the southern part of the State and speaks highly for the system of medical inspection in the schools of a number of the larger cities in that section. He has not yet formulated a detailed system for the work which he is to carry out in the Oakland schools, but he announces that he will seek to correct as far as possible defects of vision and hearing in pupils. These are the main defects, he states, which retard the progress of the pupils in class rooms.

MRS. BELMONT BECOMES SUFFRAGETTE PATRON

NEW YORK, July 15.—That Mrs. Alva E. Belmont, widow of O. C. Belmont, is greatly in earnest in her support of the cause of woman suffrage is indicated by her lease for a long term of years of the entire seventh floor of a large office building in Fifth avenue. There will be the offices of the Woman's Suffrage League, and from there an extensive and costly campaign throughout the country will be conducted. Mrs. Belmont is guaranteeing all expenses. The floor also will contain club rooms for the women.

MOTT SIGNS SLOT MACHINE MEASURE

Ordinance Against Gambling Devices Will Become Effective Oct. 1

Mayor Frank K. Mott signed the ordinance against slot machines in the city yesterday. The measure will become effective October 1, and until then the police department will rule the street corner gambling with a stern hand.

An attempt was made a few weeks ago to import the outlawed San Francisco slot machines to Oakland, but the plans of the operators were foiled by prompt action by the mayor and the police. No brokerage in checks is permitted and cash prizes can not be paid either directly or by outside persons acting in connection with slot machines.

Along with this slot machine ordinance and others authorizing street improvements, the mayor affixed his name to an ordinance which authorizes the board of public works to establish a municipal asphalt plant in connection with the corporation yards and the street department equipment. The plant will cost $2000.

BOY PLEADS TO KEEP CHILDREN

He Had Been a Good Mother to Four, and Only Spanked One

NEW YORK, July 16.—"Oh, please, please, Mr. Judge, don't take my children from me," pleaded 13-year-old Mary Nourse of 87 North Elliott place, Brooklyn, as he sat on the witness stand in the Brooklyn Children's Court, the arms of his tiny two-year-old brother Eugene clasped tightly around his neck.

"Every day since mother went away six months ago Gene has had his bath and Charles and Leonard and Daisy have had the best care. Only once have I had to spank Daisy; when she threw her doll out of the window."

The five little children were all in court, and the four younger ones, who range from two to eleven years, were shining proofs of the mother's past applications of soap and water. Their faces were clean and their clothes, in spite of shabbiness, had been carefully brushed by the boy, who had tried so hard to take his mother's place.

Neighbors living near the Nourse home reported the case to the Children's Society, and Officer Charles A. Blood found that Percy had undertaken all the household duties since his mother disappeared.

His father worked all day, so early in the morning Percy would be up and get the breakfast. When his father had gone he would make and dress the children and give them their breakfast. Then he would go about his household work, sweeping the rooms, making beds, washing dishes and preparing dinner.

It was a pathetic scene in court when the children were separated for the first time in their lives, the younger one being sent to the Children's Aid Society until permanent action can be taken.

AFFINITY LETTER CLUE TO FUGITIVE

Police Capture a Billet Doux From Clerk Who Absconded

PORTLAND, Ore., July 15.—His failure to give up a woman for whom he had formed an attachment in his recent days, and caution in his letter to the Portland branch of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, by whom he was employed up to June last. After Rodgers skipped out, leaving the short end in his accounts, no clue was found until today, when the authorities came into possession of a letter written in endearing terms from Rodgers to Miss Agnes Congdon of Salt Lake City. The letter had been forwarded from Salt Lake to Denver and then returned to Portland.

Rodgers in the letter tells Miss Congdon he will be with her within twenty days, and cautions her that his whereabouts must be kept quiet. "He left a wife and child in Portland, and as he had been known as a quiet, economical man, his embezzlement came as a complete surprise to his associates and employers here."

NORMAL SCHOOL BUILDER DEFIES CITY OFFICIALS

SAN JOSE, July 15.—F. O. Engstrom, who has the contract for building the new State Normal School building in this city, has defied the city or more workers, following the action of the Mayor and common council, which directs to the control of the work and objects to Engstrom running a hotel until he has procured a city license. He is now in the city and today he announced that no work would be done until the matter has been settled. Engstrom was arrested a few days ago for operating the steam hotel boiler without a license. He immediately applied for a permit, but as yet it has not been forthcoming.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—While standing in line buying tickets for the Chutes last night, Fred J. Hill of the Fairmont Hotel had a valuable diamond stick-pin which cost $300 stolen from his necktie. Detectives Cornelius and Bunney, who were on duty at the resort, by the order of Captain Gleason, were quickly dispatched and kept their eyes open for suspicious characters.

PENSION REPORTS SHOW BIG FIGURES

Excess of Seven Million Dollars Paid Through Offices of Col. J. B. Fuller.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—The chief clerks in the various Federal offices are engaged in compiling their annual reports and accounts, and though the total in some instances shows expenditures of millions of dollars, the methods of accounting are so dependable and accurate that little or no confusion attends the preparation of these reports in well regulated offices.

There is much interesting data to be gathered from many of these statements. The report of Colonel Jesse B. Fuller, the pension agent at San Francisco, shows that an excess of seven million dollars was paid to pensioners during his office during the year ending June 30, 1903.

During this period 2121 deaths were reported, but the transfers from other agencies exceeded this sum, and the totals show a net gain of 752 cases. This brings the total enrollment at the San Francisco agency up to 44,130. Of this number 12,000 are surviving widows, mothers or minors of soldiers or sailors in the Civil, Mexican, Indian and Spanish wars, and in the regular army or navy over 1000 children under 16 years of age are receiving, either through their mothers or regularly appointed guardians, two dollars per month each in addition to the regular rate of pension allowed in each case.

Not all of these seven million dollars was wisely invested, but a heavy percentage of it was judiciously expended by the pension agent, and thousands of cases of destitution are represented by the only income of many old and extremely helpless men and women.

CHAMBER FAVORS HARBOR BONDS

Plans for Construction of Piers in Estuary Endorsed by Directors

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce held yesterday, the report of the Rivers and Harbors Committee recommending improvements in Oakland Harbor by the issuance of bonds for the erection of three concrete piers between Broadway and Jefferson street and a wooden pier on concrete piles near the foot of Livingston street in East Oakland, the acquisition of property for the extension of Water street and the widening of First street, as well as dredging between the piers to a depth of thirty feet and the channel to the depth of the channel in front of these improvements, was unanimously adopted. One of these proposed concrete piers will be 430 feet in length, another 400 feet and a third 380 feet.

Eight applications for membership in the Chamber were acted upon favorably. Messrs. A. M. Bowser, C. A. Warner and J. R. Morrison were added to the Progress and Prosperity Committee.

A communication was received from the National Municipal League requesting this body to appoint delegates to the annual convention to be held in Cincinnati beginning on Monday, November 15, and lasting one week. The secretary was requested, through the press, to ask every member of the Chamber who would be in that vicinity at that time to forward his name to the Chamber that he might be appointed.

The Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast, of which the Oakland Chamber of Commerce is a member, has been invited to send delegates to China by the Chinese Chambers of Commerce and the secretary was instructed to request any member desiring to take this trip in the fall to communicate with him.

A committee consisting of Directors W. M. Gardner, Dr. Geo. C. Parloe and Edwin Meese was appointed to confer with Mayor Frank K. Mott and the municipal authorities with a view to requesting the city of Oakland to invite and arrange for the entertainment of President Taft upon the occasion of his forthcoming visit to the Pacific Coast.

SEWS BUTTONS TO CHILD'S TONGUE

Father Arrested for Inhuman Treatment of One-Year Old Daughter

SONORA, July 15.—To break his one-year-old daughter of the habit of sucking her thumb, A. Liebesher sewed two white buttons of medium size, one on each side of her tongue. The agony of the infant attracted the attention of people on whose farm the man was camping with his child and the authorities were notified. Liebesher was arrested and the infant was treated by a doctor, the buttons, which were fastened to the tongue with a piece of twine that passed twice through it, being cut off.

Mrs. Hilda Bowman was named by the Juvenile Court to take charge of the baby and Liebesher went with the child, remaining at the Bowman residence all day. About 6 in the evening he saw an opportunity and slipped away with the child. In his flight he met several persons and told them the officers would never take the baby from him alive. Liebesher claims to be a contractor and carpenter and is a man of apparent refinement. Deputy sheriffs are seeking him and the child. The father is charged with mayhem.

AUTO AND WAGON BLOCKADE BRIDGE

Each Refuse to Make Way for Other Until Supervisor Acts as Arbitrator

Supervisor Bridge played the arbitrator in a dispute yesterday at the crossing of San Lorenzo creek in San Lorenzo which at one time looked as if the people at cross-purposes would come to blows and also that blood would be shed.

Even after the arbitration had taken place, there was anything but a pleasant feeling between the men who had been parties to the argument.

At the present time, Cotton Brothers are building a concrete bridge over the creek in question and have laid a temporary frame from the abutment on either side for the accommodation of their workmen and teams, and of the people who reside in the vicinity. This temporary accommodation is wide enough for only one wagon to cross at a time.

Yesterday, however, an automobile and a farmer's wagon met midway on the structure and came to a standstill, there being no chance for either to turn out of the way of the other, without plunging into the bed of the creek, sitting feet below. The wagon was loaded with fruit and the driver claimed he was the first to get on the bridge and that it was his duty to keep the automobile to the back of the structure. The farmer tried to show that, even if it was his duty to keep the automobile to the back, he could do so only with great trouble, and possibly with the risk of his horses taking fright and dumping wagon, fruit and himself into the stream.

Long Dispute
The warring drivers held their ground for twenty minutes and, in the meantime, other vehicles arrived on either side of the bridge and the drivers of the latter took part in the controversy, declaring that both of the contestants were obstructing the road and that if the way was not cleared, the constable would be called and the disputants would have to fight the matter out in the courts.

At length, the new arrivals on the scene, who were prevented from crossing by the earlier arrivals, telephoned for the town marshal and, at that moment, Supervisor Bridge appeared on the scene. The supervisor was appealed to but declared he could not tell which of the two contestants had reached the bridge first, but he felt that it would be a great deal easier for the automobile to back down than it would be for the wagon, especially when the backing would have to be done by horses, which might plunge into the stream.

That was the view of the situation taken by most of the bystanders and, at length, the autoist suddenly yielded to popular feeling. He took a number of the names of the on-lookers, however, threatening to bring the farmer to court for what he considered obstructing the road. When the auto was off the bridge the farmer drove away, whistling a merry tune to the discomfiture of the man with the machine.

"MONTE CRISTO" TO BE GIVEN AT BROADWAY

After all it is the play dealing with life and death, which we are familiar with the strong appeal to all. Such a play is "Strongheart," which Manager Smith selected for the week's run at the Broadway Theater. It deals with modern folk, their ambitions, their prejudices, their loves.

The last scene is a very tense bit of dramatic art. Miss Cooper, as the white woman whose love Strongheart has won, Strongheart and an Indian messenger (Al. T. Hallet) occupy the stage. The white woman from behind a curtain hears the messenger's argument that Strongheart must return to his people alone. Quietly she steps from behind the curtain, from the brilliant light that surrounds her to the half lighted stage—the light seeming to typify the happiness from which she stepped into the shadow of sorrow in which she must forever walk. She goes, and Strongheart alone faces the world with a cry to the god of his fathers on his lip. It is a beautiful picture and dramatic in the extreme.

The last performance of "Strongheart" will be given Sunday night, with matinee Saturday and Sunday. It will be followed by "Morte Cristo."

LAW SWORE TO PUT END TO WIFE'S LIFE

When Asked If Husband Had Made Such Threat Evelyn Replied "Yes"

MAKES ADMISSION WHEN INSTRUCTED BY JUDGE

Conversation Took Place Between Couple at the Matteawan Asylum

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 15.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw took the stand at the afternoon session today in the hearing as to Harry K. Thaw's mental condition. Mrs. Thaw appeared as a witness for the State which is opposing the release of her husband from the Matteawan Asylum.

Justice Mills ruled that Mrs. Thaw could answer the questions the State desired to ask her regarding an alleged threat to kill her made by Harry Thaw during a conversation at Matteawan.

Mrs. Thaw asked if she could not claim a privilege in refusing to answer, on the ground that to reply would tend to incriminate her. The court ruled that she could not and Mrs. Thaw, when asked if Thaw had made such a threat, said: "Yes, he did."

Young Ladies' Institute Decides Not to Change Name of Order

Delegates and Grand Officers of the Young Ladies' Institute.

The exemplification of the ritualistic work and the amending of the constitution occupied the morning session of the Grand Council of the Young Ladies' Institute now in session in Maple Hall, Fourteenth and Webster streets. Owing to many changes in the report of the committee on Laws and Constitution, that has not as yet been adopted. Several phases of the report were discussed by the grand officers and delegates. The proposal to change the name of the order to that of the Roman Catholic Institute met with defeat.

The invitation extended to Archbishop Riordan to address the Institute at one of its sessions was declined, as the distinguished clergyman is not in town. In a letter he expressed his regret in not being able to take advantage of the opportunity of addressing the young ladies. In his communication he congratulated the members of the Institute upon the splendid work they accomplished in the diocese. He expressed the hope that the members of the Institute would have the grace of the Holy Spirit to direct them in all their actions and that they would be able to do so.

HARBOR SCHEMES IMPRESS BIDDLE

Water Front Committee Goes Over Proposed Plans With Government Official

Assistant City Engineer Brown, who accompanied the Harbor and Water Front Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to San Francisco this morning for the purpose of holding a conference with Col. Biddle of the engineering corps of the United States Army, respecting plans and the proposed dredging of Oakland harbor to a depth of thirty feet, returned to this city this afternoon.

"The conference," said Brown, "took place in the office of Colonel Biddle in the Chronicle Building, San Francisco, this morning. The principal subject was the proposed plans, all of concrete, on the harbor front between Broadway and Jefferson street, together with those of another pier to be erected in the manufacturing district at the eastern end of the harbor."

"Accompanying these was a letter from Mayor Mott setting forth that the city, within sixty days, would call a bond election for the purpose of raising a sum with which to make the improvements contemplated."

"All these plans were then explained in a manner that was not only clear but in a manner to give the gentleman an idea of what the city proposes to do."

Favorably Impressed

"When we showed him the plans of the piers, which he thought to be very good, he said that he was pleased to see us go at the matter in this way. He said that he was interested in the work we were doing and that he was well pleased with the spirit which seemed to govern in the case."

ASSAILANT'S POOR AIM PREVENTS ASSASSINATION

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Only the poor aim of his assailant prevented the assassination early today of Tom Benoit, a health manufacturer and clubman, who was attacked by a man in a dark country road between Washington University and Clayton, St. Louis county. No attempt was made to rob Benoit and the motive for the assault is a mystery.

Benoit, who the police said he was stopped by a man, who told him that a companion had been hurt and asked him to take the man to the hospital, was shot in the chest and arm. The machine was started toward the hospital, but when it reached the shaded place was again stopped. Benoit was then shot in the chest and arm. The machine was then started toward the hospital, but when it reached the shaded place was again stopped.

Roosevelt in Favor of Heavy Progressive Inheritance Tax On Heirs of Millionaires

NEW YORK, July 15.—The Outlook issued today has an article by Theodore Roosevelt, entitled "Give Me Neither Poverty Nor Riches."

"It is to be wished that some of those who preach and practice a gospel of mere materialism and greed and who speak as if the heaping up of wealth by the community or by the individual was in itself the best and end-all of life, would learn from the most widely read and oldest of books that true wisdom which teaches that it is well to have neither great poverty nor great riches."

"The movement which has become so strong during the last few years, on behalf of the nation both an adequate supervision of and an effective taxation of the fortunes, so far as their business use is concerned, is a healthy movement, and it is to be hoped that it will lead to a more aggressive, healthy determination to get to the bottom of our troubles and remove them."

"The multi-millionaire is not per se a healthy development in this country. If his fortune rests on a basis of wrong doing, he is a far more dangerous criminal than the ordinary types of criminals can possibly be."

"If his fortune is the result of great service rendered, well and good; he deserves respect and reward for such service, although we must remember to pay our homage to the service itself and not to the fortune which is the mere reward of the service—but when his fortune is passed on to some one else who has not rendered the service, then the fortune should impose a heavily graded progressive inheritance tax, a singularly and unobtainable kind of tax. It should be a particularly good thing if the tax bore heaviest on absentees."

FORMER HUSBAND SUED FOR $500

Mrs. Brann Says He Hasn't Paid Expenses or Part of Alimony

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Mrs. Little G. Brann, recently granted a final decree of divorce from Harry G. Brann of the salaried firm of Brann & Prior and given a slice of her former husband's property and $100 a month alimony by Judge C. A. Stuart, has brought another suit in the superior court to recover $500 from her late spouse.

Mrs. Brann, in her latest action, claims her husband has failed to pay her $175.75 which she spent while fighting for her divorce, and she alleges to have paid for him on account of shipping stock and $100 unpaid alimony.

SUBPENA TIED ON TO A BRICK

Hurled Through Window, But This Does Not Constitute Service

NEW YORK, July 15.—Complainants in a suit against Samuel J. Kling, an insurance broker, were unable to serve a subpoena on him in his office and employed a professional process-server to do the work.

He was no more successful by ordinary means, but by watching Kling's apartment he discovered that the dining room window was usually open during meal-times. He therefore tied the subpoena to a brick and hurled the brick through the window at Kling. He reported in court that the brick hit Kling and he picked it up, thus constituting what the complainants' lawyer contended was legal service.

SUES BANK FOR REFUSING A LOAN

Asks $100,000 From Savings Union for Failure to Carry Out Contract

MADE HIS DEMAND AT TIME OF BIG PANIC

Rancher P. J. Van Lobensel Brings Action in the Superior Court

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—A damages suit which calls for the early days of the financial panic is a large part of 100,000 when banks from one end of the United States to the other ceased loaning money and many of them even from leaving over their counters, was filed in the superior court today wherein P. J. Van Lobensel, wealthy rancher and land owner, seeks to recover $100,000 personal damages from the San Francisco Savings Union because of the refusal of the latter to give him funds to meet certain obligations, according to the terms of an alleged contract.

Because of the failure of the bank to accommodate to him in the panic, he was forced to sell his property at a loss and to pay the cost of material, all of which injured his financial reputation.

Among the property assessed in the suit is a large tract of land which he bought in 1907, and which he had improved with buildings and laid out for the cultivation of asparagus.

On July 1, 1907, Sels sets forth in his complaint he was forced to borrow money from the San Francisco Savings Union, for which he gave notes totaling $25,000, and secured by a deed of trust given to the Mercantile Trust Company for all the 3638 acres.

Buildings Swept Away
Shortly after the negotiation of the loan heavy rains set in in the mountains, causing the streams in all parts of the coast states to overflow. This was the result in district 567 and within a few days after the downpour began almost the whole of the town was inundated from a depth of six to sixteen feet.

The farm buildings and other costly improvements were swept away by the flood and millions of dollars' worth of property were washed to the ground. When the waters subsided there was little left but the bare land, now only a few feet above the water level, and the bank's security for its large loan was impaired and Sels claims he was called in by the officers of the financial institution to develop the purpose of discussing the best method to adopt.

As a result of that conference, Sels declares in his complaint, the bank officers urged him to proceed with a plan to place his property in the hands of the bank, which he refused to do. He claims the bank agreed to advance him an additional sum of money on his notes to carry out the work and, in the meantime, he started the work. Several hundred men were employed and a large amount of material ordered.

December 1, 1907, he claims to have contracted an indebtedness for labor amounting to $15,000, and for material delivered on the ground about $25,000. Not having funds to meet these bills, he claims to have called on the savings bank to place the necessary money in his hands, according to the contract.

At that time, or a few days before, the panic hit the Pacific Coast, which was the last to feel it. Bank directors in every city, town and hamlet were continuing the work and means of continuing the work. In the meantime, before the date Sels called for his funds, by bank directors to come paying cash over their counters and, in the meantime, his cash business was continuing the work.

Everywhere there were being called in immediately on maturity and nowhere were banks increasing the amount of their money out on interest. It was the unfortunate period that Sels called for his funds and because it was not forthcoming, he was unable to meet his labor bills or to pay for the material.

When this condition was apparent, he alleges, his reputation for honesty and integrity was sealed in all quarters and finally he was sued. All this, he claims, was brought on him by the bank and he believes the bank should sustain him for the loss he says he sustained.

Why Does Boke Defame California?

Mr. George H. Boke, who rejoices in the title of "Professor of Jurisprudence at the University of California" and who uses his employment by the State as a make-weight to individual views he airs for public edification or private profit, is giving out statements to the press of the East relative to the so-called graft prosecutions in San Francisco. In making strenuous defense of Spreckels, Heney and Burns, Mr. Boke, in effect, charges the business men of San Francisco with sympathy for crime and political corruption; he tries to create the impression abroad that there exists, principally among the moneyed classes of this State, a powerful and well organized conspiracy to prevent enforcement of the laws against bribery of public officials and kindred crimes; that our judiciary is corrupt, our jury system rotten and the major portion of the press of California venal, cowardly and mendacious.

If Mr. Boke's statements are to be accepted, the moral debasement of the people of this State is practically beyond cure; it permeates business, social and political life to such an extent as to hopelessly disease the entire body politic. It is an inquest on a death by blood corruption that Boke and his associates are holding, not a revival meeting calling sinners to grace and repentance. But does Boke state the truth in regard to conditions in San Francisco? Is he not maligning the people of that city and grossly traducing the State that pays his salary in an effort to justify prostitution of judicial and police powers and debauchment of the public service to achieve private and personal ends—the reverse of virtuous and meritorious?

Ostensibly Mr. Boke is in the East as organizer for the League of Justice. In San Francisco the League of Justice is merely an alias for Spreckels, Heney and Burns; its business is to prejudice all cases they prosecute and to justify all their doings—to assist in bullying judges, witnesses and jurors into rendering unquestioning obedience to the will of Rudolf Spreckels. It is a strictly partisan organization, pursuing the methods and seeking the justification of a frontier vigilance committee. It proceeds on the assumption that only two or three of the twelve Superior Judges in San Francisco are honest; that the Supreme and Appellate Courts of California are venal and subservient, and that the vast majority of the city's business men are unpatriotic and corrupt.

Is the assumption just? Whether it is or is not, are the men composing the League of Justice any more worthy of trust and confidence than the men they collectively and individually impeach? What is there in their past performances, their records and character, to justify the assumption that they are so much better than their neighbors? In what respect does the career, either in business or politics, of Isador Jacobs carry the conviction that he is supereminent in virtue and patriotism? This question is pertinent because the superior virtue of the League of Justice organizers is offered as moral security for men and methods confessedly bad; is regularly presented as a defense against criticism provoked by deeds and proceedings which are admittedly wrong and vicious, as a general principle, but which, on the authority of men like Boke and Jacobs, are urged as necessary to the accomplishment of righteous ends.

Thus we have three assumptions piled one upon another. First, that the community is so supremely corrupt that it must be snatched as a brand from the burning by any expedient, however desperate and daring; second, that Spreckels, Jacobs, Heney, Burns and their coadjutors, monopolize the virtue and integrity of the city; third, that crime cannot be punished and the community purged of civic corruption without packing juries, suborning testimony, intimidating courts and witnesses, and granting wholesale immunity to official thieves. Add to this a prosecuting attorney, confessedly in the pay of a private citizen who usurped the pardoning power, and who publicly asserts the right to control the acts of the judiciary, direct criminal prosecutions and generally manage the entire administration of justice. Also the cloud of spies, the tampering with jurors, the midnight colloquy of judges with agents of a private prosecution, the overthrow of established precedent, the radical departures from universal usage in selecting juries and conducting trials, and the open collusion between the prosecuting agents and the band of criminals who looted the city.

When these things are commented on Mr. Boke says the business men of San Francisco, as a class, are crooked, and that the only honest judges in California are the few who take orders from Rudolf Spreckels; he offers Isador Jacobs as a moral surety for the righteous intent of Spreckels and Heney and as a proof of the sympathy with crime that is alleged to pervade business circles in San Francisco. He forgets that the League of Justice was organized for precisely this purpose; that it was brought into existence to be a moral sponsor for acts and methods which could not be justified on any other ground than that supreme necessity compelled the Pope to conspire with the devil and fight the battle of righteousness with the fires and fiends of hell.

But is Professor Boke preaching to the East of rottenness in California to assist in purifying the morals of this State or to create a public opinion abroad that will sanction and condone control of the administration of justice by private persons? Like Heney, Burns, Fremont Older and the Call, he urges that the black turpitude of Patrick Calhoun furnishes a valid excuse for turning over the San Francisco District Attorney's office to the privately paid attorney for Rudolf Spreckels; virtually he argues that resort to all means and methods, however obnoxious on general principles, that tend to secure the conviction of Calhoun are worthy and justifiable. It is the same old song that has been sung ever since Spreckels concluded his midnight bargain with "Big Jim" Gallagher, a bargain that gave every official thief and grafter in San Francisco immunity from indictment and punishment in return for incriminating testimony against the heads of the public service corporations.

However, Professor Boke ignores certain phases of the graft prosecution in a singular way. He fails to inform eastern people in regard to the extraordinary deal by which Heney became Assistant District Attorney while holding the office of Special Assistant Attorney General of the United States, in violation of the law of this State. It has been proved in court that Spreckels agreed to compensate Heney under guise of "office expenses" prior to his appointment as Assistant District Attorney; that Spreckels secured Heney's appointment through J. J. Dwyer, District Attorney Langdon's campaign manager; that Dwyer became Heney's law partner and received $13,400 from Spreckels ostensibly for services as special counsel in the graft prosecution; that Charles W. Cobb, another partner of Heney, received, or is to receive, fees to the amount of $26,200; that Spreckels pays the office expenses of the firm of Heney, Cobb & Dwyer, including rent, clerk hire, stenographers, telephone service, stationery and office furniture, to an amount approximating $600 per month; that checks drawn by Spreckels to Heney's order to the amount of $23,828.28 have been cashed by the prosecutor.

All these things Mr. Boke passes over with scant mention or dismisses entirely from consideration. It is not worth while, in his estimation apparently, to discuss the processes by which the graft crusade was diverted into an attack upon one man and the corporation he controls nor the extraordinary expedients resorted to in and out of court to defame him and break him down financially—to embroil him in a labor strike at the very moment set for his indictment: the apparent collusion of prosecuting officers and judges to insure his conviction; the prosecution of Ruef and Coffey because they refused to give testimony required by Spreckels, Heney and Burns.

Is not Mr. Boke as much a part and parcel of the prosecution of Calhoun as Heney? Has he not received compensation in some guise for his services in this connection? Did the Call pay him for an article denouncing the decision of the Supreme and Appellate Courts in the Schmitz case? Is somebody paying his expenses as organizer of the League of Justice? We do not know that he has ever received a cent for his share in the business, but it is fair to inquire if his activity has not been made profitable to him in some way. His staunch partisanship and his persistent attempts at home and abroad to influence the result of the trials conducted by Heney for Spreckels raise a suspicion, to say the least.

Apparently Berkeley's new charter is failing in the ideal conditions it was devised to create. At least, there is complaint of friction in the school department. It is charged that the Superintendent of Schools, Frank Bunker, has construed the charter in a way to give himself the sole power of filling vacancies in the teaching force. The charter provides that the directors shall fill vacancies from a list of candidates supplied by the superintendent. By merely naming a single candidate for each vacancy Mr. Bunker makes sure of the selection of the person he desires to get the job. It is a simple but effective expedient. The directors—or some of them—maintain that the superintendent should nominate more than one eligible for any vacancy that may occur, but the superintendent thinks differently. He finds nothing in the charter requiring him to nominate more than one person for each place, and hence sees no merit in the argument that by restricting his nominations to a single candidate for each place he becomes the de facto appointing power. Of course his contention, if sustained, reduces the appointing power vested in the board of directors to the nominal status of ratifying the nominations of the superintendent. It would have been better to have given the superintendent the power to appoint subject to the ratification of the board. If the board's power to appoint be restricted to nominations of the superintendent, the board should be vested with authority to reject any and all nominations and demand the presentation of new candidates.

The private detective as a political agent appears to have become a fixture in San Francisco. However, he appears to be an essential factor in the game as played by Rudolf Spreckels. His spy system appears to be his main dependence as a self-appointed dictator. But it is rather amusing to learn that business men representing the largest commercial interests in the city cannot assemble to discuss and take part in the governmental affairs of the municipality without a spy being on hand to keep them under surveillance; nevertheless it harmonizes with the dictum of Francis J. Heney and the Bulletin that the bankers and merchants of San Francisco are mostly thieves opposed to honest men and honest government on general principles.

Tipping Declared an Unmixed Evil. But Its Abolition Not Yet in Sight

Fault of Fashion.—The tipping system will never be abolished in the United States so long as it is considered the fashion to tip. The best that can be hoped is that the Americans will some day come to use the custom in the sensible fashion that Europeans do and limit themselves to reasonable tips.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Remedy with Management.—The discussion comes back to the point that tipping is an undoubted evil, and that the remedy for it lies with the management, which should pay honest salaries and forbid it among employees. But self respect and independence on the part of patrons, if uniformly existent, would help a great deal.—New Haven Register.

Matter of Law.—The tip cannot be abolished, says the president of the Hotelkeepers' Association. Yes, it can, if you'll follow the law of arresting the briber as well as the receiver of bribes.—Cleveland Leader.

Evil of Tipping.—The evil of tipping is that it results in affording the rich or generous patron an advantage over others less well off or less generously disposed. After all, there is no need for unkindness in tipping, hotel keepers or others; it is a transaction confidential between the briber and the bribed. No regulation tip would be other than an ineffective nuisance.—Washington Post.

Road to Plungetum.—If we desire to become a nation of slunkies we have only to let the tipping habit grow in the United States. It has got a good—or rather a bad—start already, and it can only be eradicated by heroic means. A nation whose workers lose their self respect is in a poor way to become great.—Albany Press-Knickerbocker.

Blames "Drummers."—The prodigality of the "drummer" who tips has been the means of boosting the whole scum. He has gone into towns where before ten cents was a princely reward and left it with every colored gentleman in the place, turning up his nose at anything less than a quarter.—Baltimore News.

What's the Use?—It is probable that as long as the strain of human nature runs as strong as at present in pompous Pullman car porters and obsequious waiters the tipping habit will be considerably indulged in by a selfish public. So, what's the use?—Atlanta Constitution.

Discants from Dr. Parkhurst.—Dr. Parkhurst says: "Tipping is neither business nor charity, but an irritation to the donor and a humiliation to the recipient." Our experience is different. If we don't tip we are humiliated and the waiter is irritated.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Wants Better Service.—The experienced diner will not stand for being coerced into giving a tip. He knows full well that he can get the same service as the non-tipper, but that is exactly what he does not want. He knows that a gratuity to his favorite waiter brings a reward, which pleases both parties to the transaction and usually works no loss or injury to either the proprietor or to other guests. He does not expect ordinary service, necessarily, but particular service.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Stamp Tax Declared More Equitable And Less Cumbersome Than Other Special Taxes

More Just in Application.—The most equitable of the special taxes resorted to when extra revenues are needed is the stamp tax, for it is wider and juster in its application and it cannot be avoided. Besides, it can be administered with but little cost to the government. But for some reason no one saw fit to press the stamp tax in either house of Congress.—Kansas City Star.

Easily Collected.—On the other hand, a stamp tax, fair, just to all, and easily collected, would meet with no serious objections, assuming, of course, that there must be some new form of special federal taxation to meet the enormous Roosevelt deficit.—Buffalo Commercial.

Better Than Other Taxes.—If the financial distress of the federal government is so great that some special device for raising revenue must be resorted to a stamp tax is much less objectionable than tax on personal incomes or on the earnings of corporations. A stamp tax is easy to collect and hard to evade; its burdens are not unfairly distributed, and its hardships are less severe than those carried by the administration scheme.—Hartford Times.

Would Take Care of Deficit.—To stamp taxes, which would bring in revenue at once because their constitutionality is undisputed, there would be no popular objection. They would take care of the deficit which would come in the wake of the Aldrich bill. They would be widely distributed, equitable and unfeared. They should be substituted for the corporation tax.—Chicago Tribune.

Has Proved Satisfactory.—This tax is certain of collection, adequate in volume and equitable in application. It falls upon business and upon the rich. It is not a novelty, but a tried plan which has proved itself to be as satisfactory, on the whole, as any tax can be. At any rate, the newspapers suggest that the stamp tax would not open a Pandora's box of doubts, experiments and possible plagues. They are almost unanimous in declaring that public sentiment is opposed to the experimental corporation tax.—Washington Post.

Would Run Itself.—The income tax is a cumbersome and expensive method of raising revenue. Much preferable would be a system of stamps for bank checks and other documents. This would run itself and cost practically nothing for collection. Moreover, it could be abandoned at any time on short notice without the slightest disturbance to business conditions. Why should not Congress take into consideration this simple and inexpensive method of raising revenue during such time as other sources prove inadequate, and lay the income tax proposition on the shelf?—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Preferable to New Legislation.—If any additional revenue is required it can be obtained by a return to the stamp taxes of the Spanish war period. Far better that resort than to enter upon new legislation the evils of which cannot be measured.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Kaiser the Arbiter of Peace

The Kaiser, since the famous call ten months ago, has imposed a certain amount of reserve upon himself, and his speeches, post-prandial and otherwise, have been, "like angels' visits, few and far between." On Wednesday, however, he made a return to his early manner and treated his subjects to one of those "Wir, Wilhelm von Gottes Gnade" efforts, with which have been the terror of successive Chancellors. His Majesty declares war on orbi that the Czar Nicholas and I agreed that our meeting is to be regarded as a vigorous reinforcement of the cause of peace. Unfortunately, there is a limit even to autocratic power, and what the Kaiser may have decided in this respect cannot be forced upon the public opinion of Europe. In England, especially, the diminution of the German naval program by a single Dreadnought would do more to convince the public of Germany's peaceful intentions than a score of imperial speeches.

The fact that the speech was followed by a telegram of congratulation to the Vaulen Shipbuilding Yard, an enterprise which has grown to its present proportions as the result of German naval development, and is able to build simultaneously five battle ships of the Dreadnought class, is a singular example of giving with the right hand and taking away with the left. No one doubts the sincerity of the Kaiser's desire for peace, but what excites anxiety is the fact he clearly believes the decision for or against is in his hands. Like a modern Regulus, he holds the question of peace or war in the folds of his toga. This very disregard for the opinion of his subjects or of foreign nations and his implied claim to be the arbiter of the destinies of Europe constitute the danger. This is clearly voiced in the press opinion on the imperial utterances, both in Germany and abroad.—From the European Edition of the Herald.

TIMELY TOPICS

As for the woman Mallon, a cook who seems to be indefinitely held against her will by the New York Board of Health because she is believed to bring typhoid fever to homes, science knows that the insides of people are alive with typhoid fever germs during typhoid fever. It seems proved that in some cases the insides may swarm with typhoid germs even after the patient has apparently entirely recovered from the disease, and, strange to say, germs may be in the insides of others who may never have had typhoid fever.

If a man has infectious disease and is a menace to society he must be isolated until all infection disappears. The greatest danger in milk is not germs from cattle, but from tuberculosis, typhoid and other germs which get into the milk from infected people handling it.

The Value of Swimming And How Not to Drown

Not a day passes in summer without its tale of bathing tragedy. Everybody should know how to swim. Swimming is the most healthful of all exercises. An habitual swimmer is proof against almost every ill. He doesn't feel the cold winter; he's cool as a cucumber in summer. If you take up swimming and swim often enough nature will spread a thin layer of firm tissue all over your body. It's on the order of a second skin. It's like the blubber which makes the seal hot-blooded in the Arctic when the temperature is 50 below. It's this second skin which makes it possible for swimming cranks to cut a hole in the ice and take a dip in mid-winter.

Fat Reducer.—If you're fat, try swimming. Salt water has the effect of breaking up useless fat, and the best of it is it attacks you all over. There is no overdevelopment of one muscle at the expense of another, or no reducing of waist measure while your shoulders remain like telegraph poles. Salt water bathing will make fat persons thin, and it will make thin persons show fewer bones.

Good For Catarrh.—Salt water bathing is good for catarrh. But don't go in and shut your mouth and hold your nose between your thumb and forefinger and then duck your head. Let your head go down with all vents open. Take the water in; bathe the inside of your head with it. Gargle with it, and do it every day for three weeks, and you'll be astonished at the change.

Superstition About Cramps.—Ninety-nine times in one hundred drowning is the result of fright and frenzy. There is a public horror of cramps. Not one case of cramps in 1000 is dangerous if the victim knows what to do and does it. Every long-distance swimmer entering a race expects to get cramps, yet he doesn't drown and he doesn't stop swimming either. He keeps going until his legs are in knots; still, he doesn't sink. He plugs along until there isn't another kick in him, and even now he doesn't go down. Instead of that he rolls over on his back and waits for the boat to pick him up. It may be a minute or it may be an hour, but until the boat comes the expert will be floating around like a chip.

You Can Strain It Out.—When you catch a cramp in your arms or legs don't get excited. You may yell, but keep yourself under control. Don't exert yourself, for it takes little or no effort to keep afloat. Crush down the feeling of panic. Stretch out your arm or leg, as the case may be, until you are straining to the utmost. Then strain a bit harder, and watch the lumped muscle go down.

Dangerous in the Stomach.—The dangerous cramp is in the stomach. When that takes you your breath goes, and you're not able to shout for help or even to articulate a sound. There's no mistaking the real cramp when it comes. The swimmer half rises out of the water, with both hands up as if reaching for something in the blue void. Then slowly he goes down, without out splash or struggle, until the moment when he never would drown. The belief is general that three times under water for the drowning person means escape and flowers. It's true, if you make the mistake of taking water for air. Hold your mouth shut when you are under water, and you'll keep going lower and coming up all day. Don't exhaust yourself struggling. Relax every muscle, and don't move a hand. You'll find that you'll never sink lower than your ears, and that in a few seconds you'll rise up until your shoulders are dry. You can keep on doing this indefinitely, but, of course if you drink water you'll be weighted, and down you'll go.

You Will Keep Coming Up.—If a bather in trouble would use common sense he never would drown. The belief is general that three times under water for the drowning person means escape and flowers. It's true, if you make the mistake of taking water for air. Hold your mouth shut when you are under water, and you'll keep going lower and coming up all day. Don't exhaust yourself struggling. Relax every muscle, and don't move a hand. You'll find that you'll never sink lower than your ears, and that in a few seconds you'll rise up until your shoulders are dry. You can keep on doing this indefinitely, but, of course if you drink water you'll be weighted, and down you'll go.

The Use Of The Legs.—It's amazing how few out of our tens of thousands of bathers know the simplest rule of swimming. The legs are as useful as the arms, or even more so. Most bathers think the way to do is to kick out straight behind. Stand up on the floor and see the absurdity of that.

Learn In The Parlor.—Stand in the parlor and try this. Click your heels together as if you are a soldier on parade. Keep your left foot planted firmly on the floor. Lift your right and take a step as far out to the side as possible and about six inches to the front. Stop in this position and flure out what to do. It's not to kick and thresh like the amateur, who thinks all you've got to do is to "kick your legs." It's not a kick at all; for with your right foot out there you're in position for a pull. Now is the time for you to stiffen your muscles and keep the leg straight, and pull in until you are standing heel to heel again. Practice the movement on the floor with right and left alternately; then go into the water and experiment. Get your legs right first. Catch something with your hands, lie out on the water and think out the stroke. In reaching for a stroke bend at both hips and knees and when your legs are wide apart and straight out think they are a pair of scissors and close them in exactly the same way. If you do that you'll find yourself impelled forward, and gradually your muscles will strengthen until you'll simply be able to push on the water as on a wall.

Learn To Do It Correctly.—In learning to swim, or in saving yourself from drowning, it's the head tells. Stop a id think. If you don't you'll never swim correctly, and unless you swim correctly you won't get speed and you won't get endurance. There must be absolute union between muscles and brain, and to get that is the secret of every good swimmer. When you get so that you don't have to think of arms or legs you're proof against drowning.—New York Press.

Twenty Years Ago in Oakland

(Monday, July 15, 1889.)
The only streets, parts of which have been accepted by the city, are as follows: Alhlon street, from Grove to Telegraph; Ninth street, from Broadway to Washington; Franklin street, from Seventh to Fourteenth; San Pablo avenue, from Fourteenth to Thirty-sixth street. The streets in the Dinege-Met-calf tract near the head of Lake Merritt, though magnificently paved with bituminous rock, by private contract, have never been accepted. No part of Broadway has ever been accepted, not even the blocks on which Frederick Delger laid Belgian block pavement.

The contract has been awarded for the paving with bituminous rock of Broadway south of Seventh street.

Lizzie Hume is no longer the wife of Joseph Hume, the capitalist. Judge Ellsworth grants her a divorce on the ground that she has been treated with cruelty by her husband. Hume is worth $400,000, and of this amount his ex-wife will receive $100,000. The court made no order respecting the disposition of the children, who will be permitted to elect as to whether they will live with the father or the mother.

A New York letter to the Chicago News has the following regarding Silvia Gerrish of West Oakland: "This Silvia Gerrish, by the way, is one of the most beautiful women on the stage. She isn't pretty, she can't sing, but she has the most wonderful legs and feet in the world. Nothing like them has ever been seen before, nothing ever will again. They have walked with her into fame, popularity and a big salary. She doesn't sing anything nor say anything; she simply walks down to the footlights, poses and prances, turns round and round so that they may be seen from every point, not even undertaking to dance with these beautiful legs lest the muscular effort might spoil their faultless symmetry and the enthusiast's audionce cheers with one accord and wants her to do it over and over again, which she is never loath to do."

City Attorney Johnson is preparing an opinion that the Contra Costa Water Company has a right to charge the city for the hydrants which it erects under the orders of the council, as also for the water which is supplied by those hydrants at the rates established by the council.

The assessed value of the county is $68,565,580. This is an increase of five millions over the assessment of last year. The salary and the street funds are exhausted, the general fund is almost exhausted and creditors of the city must shave their warrants or wait until the funds are replenished.

Mayor Glascock returns from his vacation trip to Cisco.

The public schools reopen after the midsummer holidays.

Company F of the Fifth Infantry, N. G. C., will elect a captain after inspection tonight, and the selection will be either Major F. R. O'Brien or Lieutenant J. F. Hayes.

A petition signed by many leading citizens is to be presented to the council tonight asking that the Twelfth street dam be placed in a passable condition.

Captain Carpoizer (who knows where the enemy is): "You reconnoitered that mile, and you ascertained nothing."

Lance-Corporal Swanker: "No, sir." Captain Carpoizer: "But you must have found something out!" Lance-Corporal Swanker: "Well, sir, I found out that there wasn't a pub for six miles round!"

"Do you know, sir, that I am very particular with whom my daughter keeps company?" said a pompous father.

"Then I suppose you are very often away from home," retorted the smart youth who was thus snubbed.

Miss de Fashion: "Mother, what shall we send Miss Styler for her wedding present?"

Mrs. de Fashion: "Will the list be published in the paper?"

"No she says that's vulgar."

"Send her a plated baitspoon."

Mrs. S. N. Palmer has asked a few friends and neighbors for tomorrow evening to enjoy a game of five hundred and meet Miss Nienaber and Mrs. R. S. Handy. The affair will be quite informal but most enjoyable, for Miss Palmer is an ideal hostess. Miss Nienaber recently came from her home in the East to visit her sister Mrs. T. C. Stoddard of Berkeley, and Mrs. Handy is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Palmer, of Thirtieth street. She was formerly Miss Jessie Palmer and a popular Oakland belle and since her marriage has resided in Idaho, where Mr. Handy has large mining interests.

Miss Kitty Webster, who has been heard often at club affairs and social gatherings where her violin numbers have been enthusiastically received, is leaving on Sunday for Denver, Colo. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. N. B. Webster, and her brother, Clyde Webster, and will remain away until after Christmas. During their stay in Colorado the Websters will be extensively entertained by relatives and friends. This evening a delightful affair is planned in their honor, when Miss Ellen Young will entertain a congenial group of friends at her home on Nineteenth street. Whist will be the game enjoyed and there will be a dainty repast followed by some good music. Several of the guests are members of Cecelia Club and play and sing remarkably well. RETURN TO CHICAGO.

Mrs. L. Helen Parker and her daughter, Miss Diana and Mrs. Carolyn, left yesterday for their home in Chicago after a visit of several months with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Heron. During their stay they have made many friends and the girls have contributed much to the social activities among the younger members of the local whist club, of which Mrs. Parker is president. A party of about twenty friends gathered at the home of Miss Clarence Lusk in Piedmont on Tuesday evening to bid the Parkers farewell.

TO ENTERTAIN FRIENDS.

Mrs. Grace Davis Northrup is planning to entertain at luncheon at her home in North Berkeley on Tuesday next. Her guests will include the members of the music committee of the Thirtieth club, of which popular organist Mrs. Northrup is director. After the luncheon plans for the coming season will be discussed. Miss Elsie Mardel of Fruitvale is president and the other new officers are: Miss Marian McKelvey, secretary; Miss Edith Warner, treasurer; Mrs. N. Jenkins, Mrs. Fredrick C. Lee and Miss Martha Dulles, music committee. The first meeting of the club will be held next month, and the first concert will be given probably the latter part of October.

RETURN FROM ALASKA.

Mrs. William Walker has returned to Oakland after an absence of three months, during which time she visited all points of interest along the coast of Alaska, and in and about Seattle and Tacoma.

Mrs. Hugo Abrahamson and children are enjoying a visit at the Hotel Potter, Santa Barbara. Mr. Abrahamson has gone East on a business trip. During the absence of the family their home on Alhambra street is being occupied by the Henry Abrahamsons of San Francisco.

RETURNING HOME.

Mrs. J. H. White and the Misses Edith and Helen White are expected home from their European tour on Saturday. They spent several months on the continent and had a most enjoyable trip. With them was Miss Florence Ziegenfuss, who a few days ago was married in New York to Dr. LeRoy Briggs of this city. This young couple will arrive in a week or so and will make their home in Oakland. Mrs. Ziegenfuss, Miss Arvilla Ziegenfuss and the other members of the family are at present at Pacific Grove. They recently entertained as house guests, Miss Fox and George Daniels and a number of other visiting friends, who all enjoyed a delightful visit.

EASTERN VISITORS.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Hammer of New York arrived in this city on Monday evening and are guests at the home of Mrs. W. A. Schrocks on East Oakland. Dr. Hammer, who is a brother of Mrs. Schrocks, is a distinguished physician at the Eastern metropolis. He and his wife will remain for several weeks and during that time will be entertained quite extensively. Frank Kester, another relative of the Schrocks, arrived last night from a delightful visit in Seattle.

ing on Saturday for her home in Seattle, accompanied by Mrs. Rod Church and Miss Ethel McKelvey, is being showered with attentions during the last few days of her stay. Several pretty farewell gatherings have been given in her honor. Tomorrow Miss Carmelita Theobald will entertain at her home in Alameda with Miss Mendenhall as the complimented guest. The affair will be quite informal, but nevertheless very enjoyable, giving opportunity for some of the young people who have met Miss Mendenhall during her visit to bid her farewell. She came south early in April to be maid of honor at the wedding of her cousin, who is now Mrs. Oliver Fletcher.

A HOME WEDDING.

Miss Ruth Ogden and Dr. Calvin Esler, will be married this evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. D. Ogden of Regent street, Berkeley, with Rev. PLAN EASTERN TOUR.

Mrs. George W. Miller and her daughter, the Misses Muriel and Dorothy Kelley, are planning an interesting trip to the East. AT CROW'S NEST.

Mrs. Katherine Mizer and Miss Gertrude Digu, Henry Munro, Miss Walters of Fruitvale and Miss Laura B. Donovan are among those who are enjoying the vacation days at Crow's Nest.

VISITS OLD HOME.

Dr. J. Fred Wolfe, director of the medical department of the University of California, recently visited his old home in South Bethlehem, Pa., and gave an organ recital on the instrument on which he used to play at the beach festivals at that place over five years ago. He received a most flattering welcome from old friends and admirers. It was characteristic of Dr. Wolfe's devotion to the music of Bach that he should choose an almost unknown work by that composer for his recital. The entire program consisted of the "Goldberg" variations transcribed for the organ by Dr. Wolfe himself. These are thirty-two in number, and require an hour and a half to perform.

TO ENTERTAIN CHILDREN.

The Oakland Club will entertain the children of the vacation playground tomorrow at Dr. Fletcher's Park. The older of the little folks of the West Oakland Home are also invited to share the good time and have a happy day's outing. The club members are asked to bring their lunch and to meet at the corner of Adeline and Sixteenth streets, at 10:30 and assist the committee in entertaining the children. Mrs. J. G. Marsh, chairman of this work, has spared no pains to make the affair a success. She is only assisted by Mrs. F. E. Chadwick, who has donated fruit for all the children and who has given unsparingly of her time and means for the good cause.

AT PIEDMONT PARK.

A luncheon, for which about seventy-five covers were laid was held on Tuesday at Piedmont Park, in honor of Miss Carrie Pettine, corresponding secretary of the Foreign Mission Society of the West, and Mrs. J. G. A. Henry, wife of a prominent Baptist divine of Los Angeles. The tables were beautifully decorated with pink and white blossoms. Mrs. C. H. Hobart presided as toastmistress. Among those who enjoyed this very pleasant affair were: Miss Per-line, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Ransome Beach, Mrs. W. S. Carpenter, Mrs. W. L. Chandler, Mrs. C. H. Hobart, Mrs. A. H. Pratt, Mrs. O. M. Vespa, Mrs. J. J. Welch, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Clarence Lancaster, Mrs. Frank Gilchrist, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. T. F. Graber, Mrs. Ernberger and many others.

TO ENTERTAIN CLUB.

Miss Thomas Montgomery of Elmhurst has invited the East Oakland division of the Calendar Club for an all day social meeting tomorrow, at her hospitable home. Miss H. A. Chishman is president of this division and under her leadership much good work is being done.

AN EXTENDED TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller and their daughter Alberta left on Tuesday evening for an extended trip through the Eastern and Southern States. They will first visit New York and the points of interest in and about the metropolis. Then they will go to Ohio, to spend several weeks with relatives of Mr. Miller. Later they intend to spend some time in New Orleans, the former home of Mrs. Miller. On Sunday evening Mrs. John R. Sharpe, who is a daughter of the Millers, gave a dinner in their honor. Her home was artistically decorated in pink sweetpeas and an hour of music was enjoyed at the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Miller do not expect to return to California until next spring.

Mrs. James Gleason (Lucille Webster) was the guest of honor yesterday at one of the largest affairs of the week, when Mrs. Edward Brockway entertained for her, the affair being a five hundred party. Mrs. Gleason came from Portland about two weeks ago to visit her mother, Mrs. Daniel Webster, and her aunt, Mrs. Edward Beardsley, and since her arrival has been the recipient of many pretty attentions.

Among those who were invited to meet the fair visitor and enjoy Mrs. Beardsley's hospitality were Miss Harry Hook, Mrs. Frank Prussell, Miss Ida Luckey, Mrs. George Ryno, Mrs. J. C. Cross, Mrs. A. L. Leber, Miss Edna Curtis, Miss Clara Keenan, Miss Maude May, Mrs. W. A. Schrocks, Mrs. H. F. Hammer, Mrs. J. S. Hammer, Mrs. P. Clark, Mrs. William Herscher, Mrs. B. C. Ireland, Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Samuel E. R. V. Whiting, Mrs. Marion Ogden, Miss May Bennett, Mrs. Edward Luckey, Mrs. N. J. Chamberlain, Mrs. Felix Gallardo, Mrs. C. F. Walden, Miss Anna May, and several others.

On Thursday of next week Mrs. Webster will give a farewell party for her daughter, who, with her husband, is leaving on July 25 for New York City. Mr. Gleason arrived in Oakland yesterday and will spend the next two weeks with his relatives in this city and Berkeley. The Gleasons have made a host of friends in Portland, who will feel sorry that they are not returning to the Northwest, but who, with their local friends, will join in congratulating them on the good fortune that awaits them in the East.

AT MARE ISLAND.

Mrs. Thomas H. Davis of Los Gatos is having a delightful visit at Mare Island, where she is the guest of the Ames household.

SUMMERING AT MONTE RIO.

Mrs. J. H. Miller and family of Oakland are enjoying a month's outing at Monte Rio, Sonoma County. They will return some time in August.

Another guest at the same interesting place is Mrs. J. T. Brennan, who has been there for several weeks.

DINNER HOSTESS.

Mrs. W. S. Carpenter has asked a few friends to dinner this evening to meet Miss Carrie Pettine, of Chicago, who is spending the summer on the coast.

RETURN FROM OUTING.

Mrs. Blaik Toner, Miss Nahel Toner, Mrs. R. L. Reid and her daughter, Miss Barbara Reid, have returned from a delightful outing of several weeks at Russian River Heights.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Ethel Goad of Fort Worth, Texas, is making a three months' visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Davis, at 668 Fourteenth street, this city, where she will be glad to receive her old-time friends.

Rusty Lid Is Not Basis For Divorce.

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—"If an old rusty lid to a dinner pull preserved for nine years to be used perchance in a divorce suit is to become the foundation for a decree, then all efforts by the State to guard against divorces, except for just cause, may as well be thrown to the winds," Judge Kinsey said Tuesday in a written memorandum dismissing the suit of Frederick A. H. Alers against Mary Alers.

Judge Kinsey further stated that he dismissed Mrs. Alers' cross bill because she testified she "did not believe in divorces and did not want one."

"The Court is released from finding whether Mrs. Alers was justified in leaving the home of her husband, June 29, 1900," the memorandum states. On Oct. 24, 1900, the parties entered into a written contract which recites that "domestic differences have arisen between them and that they have agreed to live separate and apart from each other."

"If the absence of Mrs. Alers from her husband's home was without reasonable cause prior to the date of this contract, it certainly was not after that date. There can be no desertion where both parties consent to a separation."

"The contract bears the complexion of an attempt by Alers to forestall the results of a divorce suit against him by his wife. He has settled the question of alimony in advance on a very liberal basis toward himself, and the curious may inquire why he should have settled it at all if Mrs. Alers was so much at fault."

Relies on Poem In Divorce Suit

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Two letters and a poem, which Edgar Hasselbach, who is suing for divorce from Emma Hasselbach, says he found among his wife's papers, were introduced in evidence in Judge McQuillin's court Friday. The documents were sealed in an envelope and taken possession of by Judge McQuillin.

The poem was read in open court, but the other documents were perused only by Judge McQuillin and the attorneys. The poem is entitled "A Struggle Between Love and Duty." It is said to have been set to music many years ago.

The first two verses of the poem, as Hasselbach remembers them, are as follows:

She stands between love and duty,
Fighting life's bitter fight,
Her heart is torn with anguish,
Fighting to do what is right.
But her love, it still remains the same,
Although she feels her duty plain,
But love comes first, and who can blame?

She stands between love and duty,
At her post she is bravely standing.
Duty tells her she must stay,
For this is her tender calling.

John J. O'Connor, attorney for Hasselbach, said he would show Mrs. Hasselbach wrote the poem and letters to one or more of the persons whose names have been mentioned in Hasselbach's suit.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt is quoted in some of the papers as calling men "jobsters" and "shrimps," says a writer. She says she never used such words in her life and has no such feelings toward men as are expressed in the words.

Reforms, she says, need the attention of women as well as men, and she has never blamed the men for the disfranchisement of the sex.

BABY, LOST, SPENDS NIGHT IN WOODS ON MOUNTAIN

NEW YORK, July 15.—On a lonely road near the summit of the Orange mountains, little Sophia Beech, 3 years old, with her white summer dress torn by scratches with the thistles and stung with hunger, frost and exposure, was found this morning and turned over to a park policeman by Courtney Earle, one of a searching party. She had spent the night in the little cave, and when she was found she was very much exhausted.

The baby soon brightened up when she found that she was in the care of friends, and it is thought that she will suffer no harm from her experience of a night in the woods and a night in the brushwood and among the big trees.

Child of Dolle Barnford of West Orange, as soon as the child was brought to headquarters, sent a dispatch to the parents at 61 Cherry street, here in New York.

The fact that a child was lost on the mountains was enough to send every man

Society Women and Men Play Croquet in Bare Feet

SHOELESS SOCIETY PLAYING CROQUET.

Fashionable English women and men are now playing croquet barefooted. A method, it is declared, which puts much zest in what is otherwise considered a rather dull game. They find pleasure, and possibly profit, in playing with feet bare, not, as might be imagined, in more or less primitive fashion on the sands of the seashore, but on the well-kept lawn of the country house. All those who are playing the game praise the method highly, claiming that the naked foot has a far better grip on the turf than the foot that rests on a sole of leather or indiarubber. It is further claimed that the touch of the soles of the feet against the earth has a soothing effect upon the nerves.

Affinity Bureau Hides Coy Widows = Mash Notes Are Warm

ST. LOUIS, July 15.—Justice A. II. Werremeyer's love lottery and merry widow bureau continues to hum. His mail Friday again was burdened with love messages and mash notes, the warmth of which rivaled the official temperature of Claxton.

No marriages have been negotiated as yet and the writers are getting coy. So wary are the widows, Judge Werremeyer had to change his tactics. Utmost secrecy will veil the brides and their courtships and no reporters will be permitted to attend the field day session Wednesday, when a number of ladies are expected to assemble.

"Alice" writes that she likes travel. Judge Werremeyer will look over the available list of "prospectives" and try to find her a street car conductor, if she wants to exchange photographs with a globe trotter.

Only one widow sends her name. She is Mrs. Lucie Chausse, 2214 Park avenue. Of seven letters from men, Charles Brown, Edwardsville, Ill.; Edward Ramsey, Harvell, Ill., and John Welch, 4559 North Broadway, frankly sign their supplications and give their identity, all sincerely insisting "object matrimony, no trifling."

George Beech took his wife and little girl over to the Oranges yesterday for a day's outing. The parents were busy and did not notice that the child had strayed far afield. They called out her name, thinking that the brush and hedges concealed her from view. There was no response and the Beechers started out to find the child. They were not successful, and after hours of beating the bush notified the police.

WEEP NOT! SIGH NOT!

Weep not! tears must vainly fall,
Though they fall like rain;
Sorrow's blood shall not recall
Love's dear life again.
Vain thy tears,
Vain thy sobs;
As vain heart-throbs
Of lonely years
Since thou Love hast slain.

Sigh not! As a passed wind
Is but sought in vain,
Sighs nor groans may not unwind
Death's unbroken chain.
Sighs and tears
Nought avail,
Nor cheeks grown pale
In lonely years.
Love comes not again.

Girl Bride of Five Minutes Is Deserted

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—Deserted within five minutes after her marriage, Mrs. Madee Perkinson, a bride of ten days, who lives at 1804 South Nineteenth street, appeared in the Central Police court to prosecute her young husband, Boyd Perkinson, of Wharton street, near Thirtieth, upon charges of desertion and non-support.

Mrs. Perkinson is about 20 years old. All the love she ever had for her husband apparently has cooled. She was very angry and looked daggers at him as she stepped upon the witness stand to tell her story.

"He's my husband and this is the first time I have seen him since about five minutes after our marriage," she said in answer to a question from Magistrate Beaton. She then went on to explain that after a rather short courtship Perkinson married her in Wilmington, Del., on June 23.

"About five minutes after the ceremony he deserted me," she said. "He walked with me from the minister's house directly to the boat landing and then gave me a ticket for this city, and said good-bye." Despite the haste of her husband to leave her he was very careful she testified, to take $350 from her, which he did not return.

Perkinson made no denial of the charges except that in reference to the money. He was held in $300 bail for trial.

Why TALK OF Growsome Things

By Ruth Cameron

WHEN you picked up your paper to-day you undoubtedly read in the ordinary day's news of a dozen—maybe many more—people who died by accident. Perhaps of some painful item you said, "How terrible!" But you probably never thought, "That might just as well have been me!" And yet it might have.

It is almost impossible for a well, strong person to truly sense the thought of dying.

I know a girl who always says: "If I die," because she is so full of life and spirits that she simply cannot realize she will not always be alive.

"Why on earth are you talking about such growsome things?" you probably say.

Well, just this. If anything should happen to you as any time would your affairs be all in the state you would like to leave them.

I mean, "Have you a will?" "Are your money affairs in any kind of order?" "Are there no letters in existence that you would rather not have become other people's property?" The whole subject came suddenly into my mind yesterday when the automobile in which I was riding slipped the curb, stood on its wheels and aimed for a telegraph pole.

WHEE! We missed the pole by the fraction of an inch when we had gotten back to terra firma and slowed down to take account of stock we all realized that we had faced death.

And after the first reaction of, "Thanksgiving my mind flew straight to a telegraph pole and several bundles of letters that I would rather have had than any other thing in the world." I realized that I would be very hard for any one to get the three of my money affairs.

The three women in the automobile—one a woman of considerable property—admitted that the condition of affairs was much the same with them.

"I couldn't bear to make a will," a silly little woman said to me the other day. "It would make me feel as if I were going to die."

That is perfectly absurd.

The sensible woman will surely realize if she stops to think it over, that she be prepared in every way for death does not bring it one whit nearer.

BURGLAR CAUGHT AFTER BATTLE WITH POLICE

FATHER HELD TO ANSWER ON GIRL'S STORY

Frank A. Boulton Must Face Unspeakable Charge in Superior Court

VICTIM LEAVES DOLLS TO TELL AWFUL TALE

Life Imprisonment Will Be the Man's Fate If He Is Adjudged Guilty

The slow turning wheels of justice made a partial revolution in Police Judge Samuels' court this morning when Frank A. Boulton, a carpenter, whose monstrous relations with his 15-year-old adopted daughter, Gertrude Boulton, was held to answer for trial before the Superior Court on the most sensational and heinous of all crimes. Bail was fixed at $10,000. The maximum punishment for the crime for which the father was held is life imprisonment and by custom has been placed at forty years.

For two days the little child, whose dress fell just below her knees, occupied the witness stand and told a tale that seemed itself on the minds of those who heard it. The curious public was excluded from the hearing. The child, who is now the ward of the Associated Charities, was called from her room in the detention home where she had been playing with her dolls and rag babies like other little girls of her age, and placed on the witness stand to tell her story. She told it simply, but at the same time told such a horrifying experience that it sent shudders through those accustomed daily to hear tales of human misery, war and degradation.

Adopted Child

She had been adopted by the man she called "papa" when a little tot in baby clothes. At that time Boulton was living with his wife. They separated and the girl, just entering her teens, was left in the charge of the man who, it is alleged, later fraudulently changed the name of father. The girl's total ignorance of those things which should have fallen from the lips of a mother was pitiable.

The end came and the child suddenly awakened to the wretched truth. She told a woman friend, which resulted in a vigilance committee headed by Councilman MacFarlane, being formed and warning on the man. He was glad to leave town, but was arrested.

Tried to Shield Him

During the hearing of the testimony the little girl vainly tried to shield her father by the invention of a story involving Clarence Hanks, a Berkeley railway clerk, but investigation of the charges against him proved they were groundless and that the child was only following out the instructions of her father in attempting to shift a part of the terrible responsibility.

While the parent may have to suffer for the enormous offense with which he is charged, the sentence the young girl will have to make will still be greater. According to the testimony of the physicians in the case the young victim is to become a mother soon and will have to give up her dolls and rag babies and surrender the joys of her childhood to take up the glacial cares of motherhood.

Famous Singer Going Blind; May Never Appear in Public Again

MADAME BRESSLER GIANOLI, Opera Singer, Who Is Slowly Going Blind.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Madame Bressler Gnanoli, the well-known opera singer, has been blind since she was a child. She is now blind, but she is still a success at the Metropolitan Opera House. She is blind, but she is still a success at the Metropolitan Opera House. She is blind, but she is still a success at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Notable "Carmen"

She made her first successful American appearance two years ago with the French opera company from New Orleans, which had a rather disastrous season at the Casino Theatre, New York, although she personally scored at that time. She was blind, but she is still a success at the Metropolitan Opera House.

LEGISLATORS ARE FRAUD BY WOMAN

Mrs. Lillian Harris Coffin Re-counts Disastrous Experiences as Lobbyist

Yosemite, July 15.—Taking as her theme the women's suffrage bill through the last Legislature, Mrs. Lillian Harris Coffin of San Francisco told the Yosemite Valley Chautauque yesterday afternoon a plain tale of the State's lawmakers.

Although it was "Women's Day" and she had been expected to make an address on suffrage, she avoided the theme directly, remarking parenthetically that the question was no more a question. She was not so shy about discussing the Legislature.

"The reformer," she declared, "has a thankless task. The man who takes on the task of reforming the Legislature is rewarded as instance the case of an Alameda lawmaker who is now enjoying the Federal office because he took program. The reformer, however, men into politics for what they can get."

"To offset this we must be ready to reward those who stand for good government. And they deserve rewarding, for they have to withstand terrible pressure."

Mrs. Coffin told her respects to the San Francisco delegation. She classified all that city's lawmakers as "the laughing stock of the Legislature." She held up the entire eighteen as "horrible examples," which, she said, should spur the good citizens of California, men and women to use their best endeavors to send high-class men to Sacramento.

Mrs. Coffin could not refrain from referring to suffrage. Women, she said, could do a world of good even without the ballot by keeping informed on current politics, and by using their power to keep the press clean and the representatives of the people honest and trustworthy.

GRAZE FOR GOLE BRINGS DIVORCE

Chewing Gum Heir Must Pay Wife $5000 a Year Alimony

NEW YORK, July 15.—"Garry" Adams, son of the late chewing gum king, was ordered to pay his wife $5000 a year alimony by a jury in Justice Kelly's court. Brooklyn, where she had brought suit for a separation.

Mrs. Adams asserted her husband loved the name so much that he was driven away to Florida, or wherever else national contacts were held, leaving her alone without a red-cent or a letter to tell her he was. What he was doing or when he would be home.

According to her, "Garry" thought she asserted that while she was at the Waldorf-Astoria he wandered away one day, and for the following four months she knew nothing of his whereabouts. She found a newspaper by chance, the Palm Beach tournament.

That was on December 10, 1908. She immediately brought suit.

The Adams were married on April 29, 1907. They have one child. The father of Adams was a millionaire, leaving an estate valued at $2,000,000. From this his will allows his son "Garry" an income of $25,000 a year. The jury thought Mrs. Adams was entitled to one-fourth of this.

George W. Bryant, a master barber, who runs a shop at 1254 Park street, Alameda, has been sued in the Superior Court by Norma Bryant for a divorce. The couple were married in Seattle in June, 1908, and Mrs. Bryant says that since that time her husband has been very cruel to her, calling her vile names, striking her with his fists and violently kicking her.

MEET TO CONFER ON PLANS FOR BAY FRONT

Committee From Oakland Consults With United States Army Engineer

TO DREDGE SLIPS TO DEPTH OF 30 FEET

Mayor Mott Assures Colonel That His Suggestions Are Favored.

The committee on wharves and waterfront of the Chamber of Commerce went to San Francisco this morning for the purpose of informing Colonel Biddle of the Corps of Engineers of the United States army as to what the city of Oakland proposes to do in the way of improving its harbor, in order to enable and encourage that official to recommend to the Secretary of War that the harbor be dredged to a depth of thirty feet in the channel.

This information was requested by the colonel for the reason that he was not disposed to make the recommendation to the Federal Government because, at the present time, while the channel has a depth of twenty-five feet, there is but one wharf in the harbor where there is a depth of the same kind. He contended that it would be a wasteful expenditure of money to dredge the channel to a depth of thirty feet when, by reason of the shallowness of the water at the various wharves, it would be impossible for a vessel having that draught to reach one of them.

New Wharf Plans

The committee comprised M. J. Lynam, Dr. George C. Pardee, E. C. Sessions, and P. T. Brown, assistant city engineer of this city, it carried with it maps showing spots on the north line of the harbor, between Broadway and Jefferson street, where the city proposes to construct three concrete wharves, varying in length from 400 to 500 feet, and costing in the neighborhood of $1,500,000. The maps also showed that the slips between the piers are to be dredged to a depth of thirty feet, or whatever might be the depth of the harbor.

Letter From a Mayor

At the same time the committee was furnished with a letter from Mayor Mott, in which he set forth the purpose of the administration to submit to the voters the proposition of bonding the city to a liberal amount to make the improvements referred to.

The letter is as follows: "Oakland, July 14, 1909. Col. John Biddle, 728 Chronicle Building, San Francisco, California. Dear Sir: The harbor and waterfront committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Public Works and myself held a conference yesterday afternoon, in reference to the city's plans for harbor development in the Oakland estuary. The matter was discussed at length and the committee fully informed as to the proposed immediate improvement of the harbor.

"This city intends to call an election within sixty days, when a proposition involving the expenditure of several million dollars for this work will be submitted to the people. Detailed maps and reports of the Board of Public Works and engineering department were furnished the committee.

"I believe your position as to the improvements on this side of the bay is well taken, and that some information should be furnished the Federal Government as to what the private or municipal enterprise is planning to do. I can assure you that our city has finally and positively determined to go on with the building of municipal wharves and docks—the type of construction, as you will note from the plans, is the best that engineering science can design or suggest, and it is intended to dredge to a depth of at least thirty feet within the slips.

"If we can furnish you with any other information we will be glad to do so. Very truly yours,

"FRANK K. MOTT, Mayor."

HARRIMAN NEARLY WELL, SAY AUSTRIAN DOCTORS

BAD GASTRITIS, Austria, July 15.—In view of assertions published in some New York papers just received in Europe, that the health of the late John D. Harriman was in a very precarious condition, the New York "Times" correspondent today requested the attending physician, Dr. Altman, an authoritative announcement. Dr. Altman said several reports were unworthy of discussion. He wrote the following: "Harriman has been suffering from nervous breakdown. He is now greatly improved. If the present treatment is continued he will improve still further. His general health is good."

CHEF MAKES CLEAN-UP IN THE COTTON MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—Simon Ruellie, assistant chef of the St. Francis, has cleaned up $16,000 on the cotton market and is preparing to return to Paris. He is one of the lucky few who have bought the cotton over the ticker in the last thirty days.

Just now he is enjoying the summer resorts in Southern California, but his thoughts are concentrated on the return to France, where he plans to establish a cafe in Paris.

GIRL BANDITS ROB MAN OF 10 CENTS

Use an Empty Revolver and Treats Affair as Joke, When Arrested.

CHICAGO, July 15.—Two sisters, the elder 16 years of age, held up Charles in South Chicago last night and with an empty revolver forced him to give up 10 cents under penalty of death. They then ran to a nearby police station. He returned with a police escort, which captured the hold-up girls. When taken before the sergeant the sisters denied the whole affair as a joke, laughingly recalling the nervousness of their victims. Between giggles they gave their names as Helen Derowska, 16 years, and Bertha, 13 years of age. They admitted taking the money from Nattel under threats to kill him, declaring they wanted an ice cream soda.

The girls, both of whom are small, stout, good-looking, said they recently had visited a wild west show and heard an easy way to obtain money.

These Are Declared to Be Undesirable Additions to the Church

CHICAGO, July 15.—Religious "revivals" were classed with hypnotic séances and scored for their unnatural and "weird" results yesterday by Professor Edward Scribner Ames of the University of Chicago in a lecture on "The Development of the Personal Religious Experience." The professor declared that revival converts were likely to be undesirable additions to the church.

CONFESSES TO CRIME AND TELLS ON HIS PAL

Companion of Prisoner Found After Search and Is Arrested

CAPTURED AFTER CHASE THROUGH THE STREETS

Alarm Is Sounded to the Police Officials by Passing Pedestrians

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15.—

Captured by a police officer after a chase of five blocks, immediately after he had burglarized a saloon, William E. Wilson, a laborer, not only confessed his crime to the officer who arrested him, but revealed the name and whereabouts of his accomplice who was subsequently taken into custody.

Police Officer H. N. Powell was patrolling Duboce avenue when he heard cries of "police," and "robbers," and, hurrying in the direction of the sound, he ran to the corner of Valencia street and Duboce avenue where he saw a man suddenly dash out of a lot and run up the street toward Market. He set out in pursuit, and, after a long chase, captured the fugitive in Pearl street.

Returning with him to the vacant lot, he found a pencil nickel-in-the-slot machine, six boxes of cigars and several bottles of liquor. The burglar, who gave his name as William E. Wilson, had been something of an unruly prisoner during the return to the lot, and Officer Powell had a hard time keeping him in restraint.

He fought with his captor, and did everything in his power to get away. When confronted, however, with the evidence of his crime, his manner suddenly changed, and he broke down and confessed that he had broken into the saloon of W. D. Dwyer at the northwest corner of Duboce avenue and Valencia street, entrance being effected by prying off a board.

He also confessed that his companion, Jack Hurley, who had made his escape by running in the opposite direction, resided in Twenty-fourth street, between Howard and Mission. Wilson was booked for burglary at 2:30 a. m., and three hours later, after a long search, Hurley was also apprehended at his home, 812 Capp street, and a similar charge was placed against him.

It is thought by the police that Hurley was the leader in the crime, as he carried two hits with him, a brown derby and a soft, black hat.

TONNESSEN'S BINGLE WINS GAME FOR THE OAKS

EXCITING BATTING RALLY BY OAKS IN THE EIGHTH INNING, NETTING 3 RUNS, TURNS DEFEAT INTO VICTORY

Work of Southpaw Tonnessen Pleases President Robison of St. Louis Nationals—Utility Infielder Quigley Due to Arrive Saturday.

By HERMAN F. BUDE.

A BATTING rally in the eighth won the game yesterday for the Athletics. With the score standing 1 to 0 in favor of the Orange Pickers, Ragan got real busy and singled to center. A pretty two-base drive over short by Tonnessen tied the score. Carroll kept up the good work by sending a screamer along the first base line, good for two bases, circling Tonnessen for run number two. Cameron scored the Oakland center fielder when he hit past third.

The hitting bee was one of the most exciting seen for some time by the fans. Earlier in the game time and again the Oaks had opportunities of rallying, but it appeared as if the fickle God Fortune was against them, and on every occasion the round ended with no runs registered for the locals. In the sixth the southerners did their part toward clinching the game when Orendorf fell on Tonnessen for a home run over the right field fence. That one tally was all that the Southerners were shy of accumulating, and it did fair to be the only one of the exhibition until the eighth frame hove in sight, when Ragan started a little ballroom ascension.

Tonnessen was in trim for a great battle and dished up a mixture of slants which did not please his opponents at all. Only six hits were assimilated off of his delivery and of those only two came in one inning. Outside of the fifth eighth Tonnessen was shy of easy curves, keeping the heavy-lifting Oaks on their toes and on all the time.

Infielder Quigley, who is on his way from the Shreveport club in the Southern League to join the Athletics, wired Secretary McFarlane yesterday that he expects to be on hand Saturday afternoon. Quigley has been playing third for Shreveport and has been first in the batting order, but will not be assigned to a regular position, not as long as at least as the Oaks are running as well as they are doing now. A glance at the record made by the player in the last forty games shows him to be a tussler of no mean ability, and it may be that a little later he will be given a good chance to display his worth. For the present he will be the utility man.

Umpire McCarthy was on look bright and early and knocked in a thousand atoms the report that was spread around that he had resigned. He was unable to be present at the opening game of the series owing to a funeral which he had to attend in Sacramento.

President Stanley Robison was an interested spectator at the game and took huge delight in the slab work of Tonnessen. According to the St. Louis magnate Tonnessen is just as great a possibility in the big leagues as old Bill Reilly, the southpaw ace "everything." After the game Robison manager refuses to divulge. It is known that Robison is sweet on Howard Murphy.

Carl Lewis was away off in his pepping to bases, throwing wild as he expected to be on every occasion, but he was called to head off a runner.

The game was delayed five minutes through a peculiar incident that happened to Willie Hogan. In the eighth inning, when he took part in a race with Toner, between third and home, he tore his shoe off of his left foot. As there was no shoemaker on hand with an owl Hogan went to the bench and did the repair work there himself. As far as would be known, none of the fans had to have recourse to any smelly salts. Willie figured in another little experience earlier in the game, when he was declared out for interfering with a batted ball from the bat of Christian while running from first to second.

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—The Senators won yesterday's game, 1 to 0, through the daring work of shortstop Shinn. Getting to first after two were down in the eighth, he and home on the third pitched ball, performing one of the most sensational stunts ever witnessed on a local diamond. The game was a snappy one with both teams playing baseball every minute of the day. Several times the Senators made strong efforts to put over a run and in the ninth Ole Jansson smashed the longest hit ever made on the local grounds, but Doyle played deep and relayed the ball to third and caught the Portlander out. Gruney and Egan were both a little wild but hard to hit.

Seals Come Out on Top in Keen Slugging Match

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Neither Browning nor Hill had "anything" yesterday and their easy slants started a slugfest battle which was won by the visitors in the seventh inning. When 3 to 2 in score was changed to 6 to 2, Hill was touched up for four bingles in that frame and had to give way to Willett. San Francisco tallied in the first and third and the Vernegs evened matters by plucking three more innings the man in the half of the Birds.

GERMANY EXILES MARKSMAN.

HAMBURG, July 15.—One of the German-American marksmen who arrived here to take part in the shooting tournament, yesterday received notification from the police to leave the country. No reason for the action is assigned, but it is presumably taken because Staak, who was born in Prussia, failed to perform his military service before leaving Germany for America. Staak is the proprietor of a cafe in New York.

GOOD UMPRES, AS BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS KNOW, SCARCE AS WORK WHEN YOU'RE 'BROKE'

Jack Sheridan Considered by Many King of Arbitrators---O'Loughlin, Connelly, Billie Evan and Tim Hurst on Roll of Honor

You may talk about the hard position of third base, you may talk about the hard position of a catcher, and you may talk about the hard position of a manager, but when it comes to filling the position of umpire and filling it satisfactorily, the other positions take number 23 on Friday, the 13th.

Jack Sheridan. For several years, the American League has been in grave danger of losing the king of umpires, Jack Sheridan. When not doing the umpiring stunt, Jack is an underlaborer, but the sign on the door is "Funeral Director." He has a good business and at the end of nearly every season he has threatened to quit. Report had it that during the summer nearly all the residents of his home town, and those there are hundreds of star ball players to every high-class holder of the indicator. These different professions have had sorry experiences. And they know.

Tommy Connelly. There is another umpire who has been on San Johnson's staff, who must be classed as the wise little fellow. It is not generally known, but Tommy Connelly is a very old fellow. He is in this country when about 10 years old. He never played ball, yet he has mastered the game. He has been a umpire for 30 years. Just think of it and then you are in a quandary. It is said that he has mastered these two games. Most of the other youngsters who came to this country with him are hard at work at some profession, East, or as policemen on the New York force.

O'Loughlin Modern. President Johnson has also another umpire on his staff who is a prominent figure in baseball. He is none other than Francis O'Loughlin. O'Loughlin is the old school umpire. He is a very old fellow, but he is a very good one. He is a very good one. He is a very good one.

Mexico Will Likely Rescind the Racing Permit at Tia Juana. WASHINGTON, July 15.—The concession recently granted by the Mexican government to a company of horse race promoters in California for the establishment of a race course at Tia Juana, a village in Lower California near the southern boundary of California and within a short distance of the city of San Diego, probably will be rescinded.

California Tennis Experts Leading in Oregon Tournament. PORTLAND, Ore., July 15.—The players of the Oregon state tennis championship tournament, which was held yesterday, were led by W. C. Knowlton, San Francisco, defeated W. C. Knowlton, San Francisco, 6-1, 6-2.

Clubby Tim Hurst. Last but not least in the American League umpire family is "Clubby Tim" Hurst. "Tim" will take over baton from "Clubby" and will be a very good one. He is a very good one. He is a very good one.

COFFROTH MAY CHANGE HIS BATTLE GROUND

Jimmy Coffroth is fortunate enough to secure the Al Kaufman-Jack Johnson match for one of his September dates, and he is moving very well within a large and well-laid out machine for the acquisition of fighters in the hope of so doing, he may not stage the contest at his now famous Mission-street arena, Coffroth is compelled to get a permit every year from the supervisors of San Mateo county, which entitles him to run his shows for one year, and his permit has just about run out; in fact, Coffroth will have to secure another permit before he will be able to stage any contests after the Corbett-Frayne bout of next Saturday.

The people of San Mateo county and other places have been on the lookout for all sorts of advertising for the past few years and they are somewhat jealous at the idea of Colma getting all of the advertisement out of the fight game.

South City, an incorporated town of San Mateo county, has come to the front with a proposition to Coffroth to hold his big championship show there and have agreed to build the arena and pay for the advertising of the show. Sausalito has also made overtures to the promoter, and it is said that certain people from this side of the bay have been after Coffroth.

When the question of a permit comes up before the supervisors the promoter can feel perfectly at ease and he will not have to go begging for the incorporated towns that want him to handle the game in their localities are independent of the supervisors and can issue permits at their pleasure.

The chances are that the permit will be issued without any delay on the part of the county fathers, for the people of Colma realize what the boxing game has been to them and they are strong with the boosting of the game. Who ever heard of the town of Colma before the boxing game opened there? No one but a few real estate men and others who had interests there. Since the boxing game has opened there, however, Colma has been advertised all over the country, and although some may say that it is not the desirable kind, the fact remains that it has received the boost of its existence. I once heard a good business man say that any kind of advertising is good that reaches the people and the Colma business men will make a fight to hold Coffroth there for these reasons if no other.

South City and Sausalito are strong bidders, however, and if the match is made it may be taken to one of those places. This proposition to hold the contest in their cities has been made with a view of it holding good if the Jeffries-Johnson match should be made. Jeffries and Johnson would be even a greater attraction and might call for greater inducements.

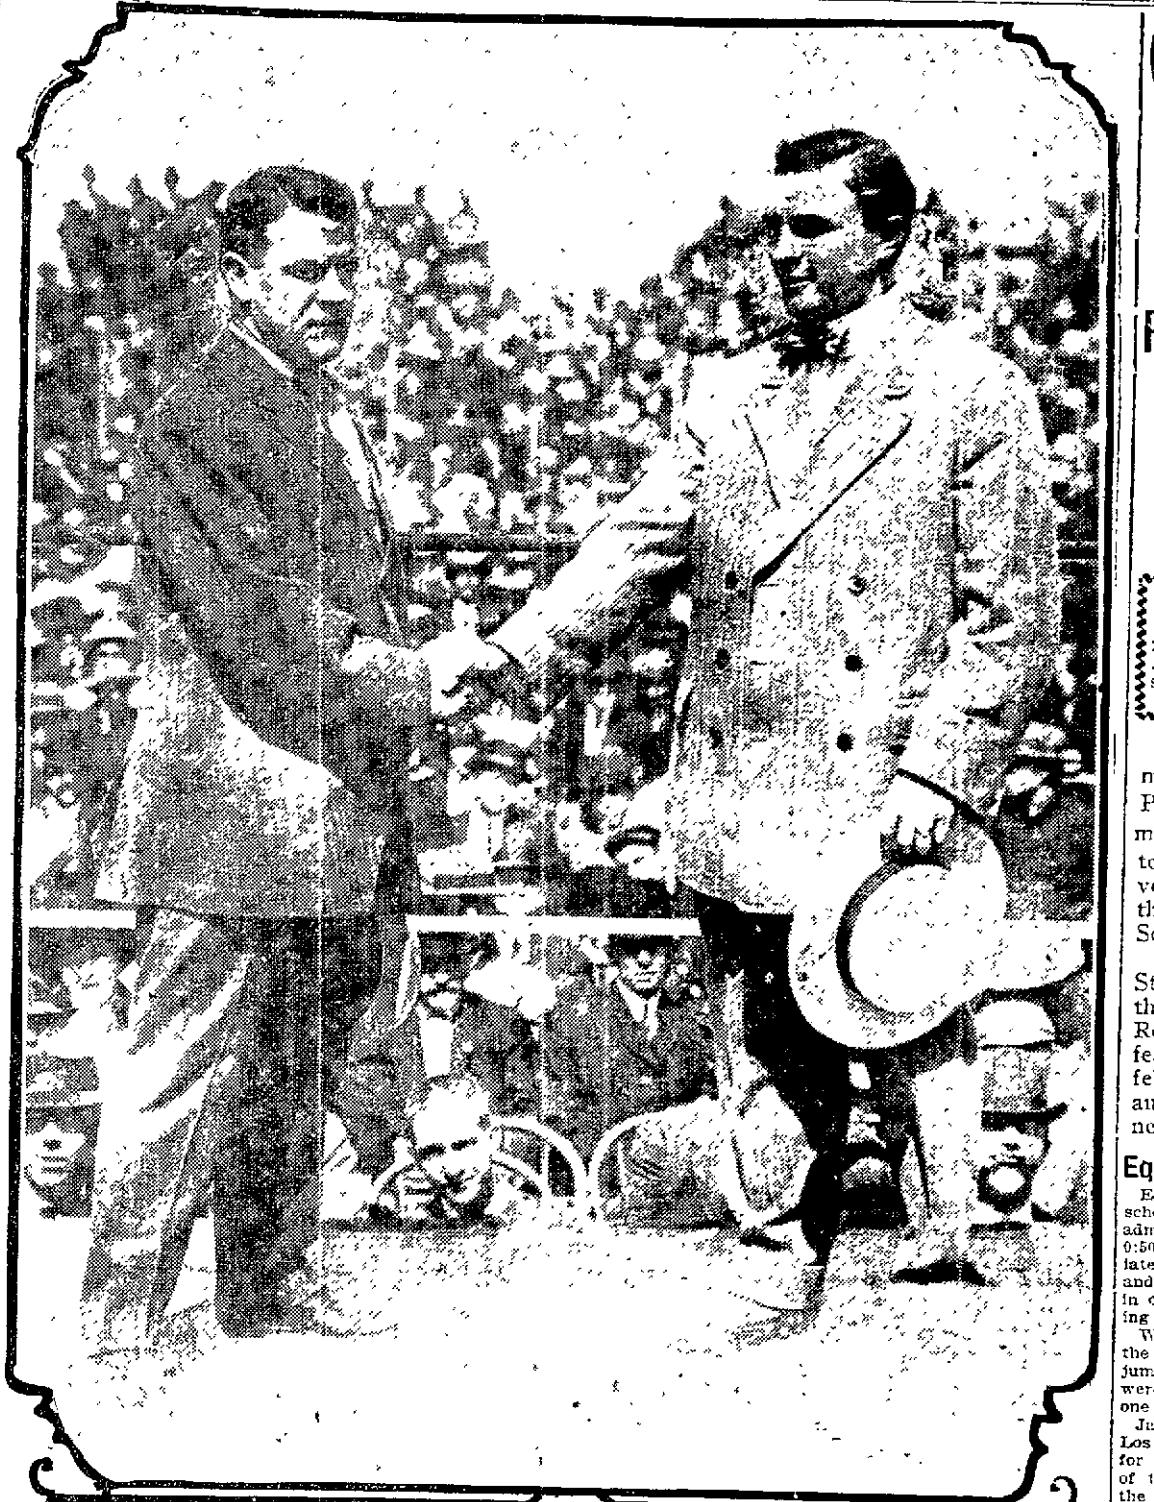

BILLY PAPKE AND JIM FLYNN FIGHT A CLOSE TEN ROUNDS

Illinois Man Did Cleanest Hitting and Fireman the Rushing—Billy Delaney Has Turned Kaufman Over to Morris Levy

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—Eddie Smith, OAKLAND TRIBUNE: We won in every round. Billy held Flynn safe at all times. Fireman did lots of wild rushing, forcing Billy to the ropes at times, but could not land any clean punches. Flynn was much heavier than Papke, but Billy showed great strength and judgment in the way he handled him from the start. People here are crazy. Every time he rushes they think he is doing great damage, when he may not land a punch; gallery always howling for him. Will be ready to meet Ketchel in September or any other date we can get. Will bet Ketchel as much as he wants on the side at the prevailing ringside odds. ED PAPKE.

By EDDIE SMITH.

LAST night at Los Angeles Billy Papke and Jim Flynn met for the second time and fought ten rounds that were no doubt fairly even. The usual unsatisfactory newspaper reports of the affair are at hand and as has been the case in most of the contests they disagree to such an extent that one can almost read between the lines which fighter is the better. Billy showed great strength and judgment in the way he handled him from the start. People here are crazy. Every time he rushes they think he is doing great damage, when he may not land a punch; gallery always howling for him. Will be ready to meet Ketchel in September or any other date we can get. Will bet Ketchel as much as he wants on the side at the prevailing ringside odds. ED PAPKE.

Young Corbett and Johnnie Frayne, who will meet at Coffroth's arena next Saturday afternoon. Both Frayne and Corbett feel that the coming fight is one of the most important in their career and both have trained to the hour for the contest.

OLYMPIC AND STANFORD ATHLETES WIN 10 OF 14 EVENTS AT ANNUAL P.A.A. MEET HELD IN LOS ANGELES

Performance of Harry McLean, Indian Runner and Winner of Marathon in 2:20, Places Him Among World's Championship Possibilities for That Distance

LOS ANGELES, July 15.—In spite of the strenuous efforts made by the Southern California athletes to win the honors of the Pacific Athletic Association's championship meet they were no match for their northern competitors in the competition held yesterday at Ascot Park. Both the Olympic Club and Stanford University club teams were in great fettle and carried away between them ten of the fourteen events contested. The Alameda High School was the winner of the 440.

The point winners for the Southland people were Donahue of St. Vincent's College and Harry McLean, the Indian runner, from the Government School at Phoenix, Arizona. The work of Ralph Rose, the Healdsburg giant, next to that of Harry McLean, was the feature of the day, entering three events and winning in each. He fell short by a foot in equaling the world's record in the shot-put, and in the hammer and discus completely out-distanced his opponents.

Equals Coast Record

Edward Macaulay of the Alameda high school surprised his most enthusiastic admirers by finishing the quarter mile in 1:50.1, equaling the coast intercollegiate record held by Wynman of Stanford, and surpassing all previous attainments in open competition at this distance during recent years.

Walter Knox of the Olympic Club took the 100 yard dash in 1:10.5, and the broad jump, covering 22 feet 4 inches. They were the only entries who won more than one event.

James Donahue of St. Vincent's college, Los Angeles, who holds the junior record for the low hurdles, and Harry McLean of the Phoenix Indian school, furnished the exciting feature of the day. Donahue won the 120 yard hurdles, beating J. J. Beeson of the Olympic Club in the last two laps, and coming within two-fifths of a second of equaling the Kraenzlin American record of 1:51.5, on a track none too good and against a brisk breeze.

McLean, who won the 13 mile Marathon Monday, overcame Garvin's lead of 200 yards in the last quarter of the two mile race and beat the Olympic runner by 60 yards to the tape. The time was 9:54, just three seconds over the coast record. The Indian's performance, in the opinion of his competitors and the officials, places him among the world's championship possibilities for the distance run.

The results are as follows:

880 yard run—John McGregor of Stanford, won; time, 2:04. Eugene F. Smith of the Olympic Club was second, and J. J. Beeson of Stanford third.

Putting 15 pounds—Ralph Rose of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, won; distance, 4 feet 7 3/4 inches. Walter Knox of the Olympic Club was second, and H. L. Horton of Stanford third.

Running high jump—Robert Merriam of Pomona College and E. J. Beeson of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, were tied; height, 5 feet 11 inches. Ben E. Ward of the Polytechnic High School was third.

One mile run—Craig of the Olympic Club of San Francisco won; time, 4:43. Harold Maundrell of the Olympic Club was second, and T. B. Smith of the Olympic Club third.

220 yard hurdles—C. H. Morris of Stanford won; time, 2:06.1. J. J. Beeson of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, was second, and Robert Merriam of the Pomona College third.

120 yard hurdles—James Donahue of St. Vincent's College won; time 1:51.5. J. J. Beeson of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, was second, and C. H. Morris of Stanford University third.

Running broad jump—Walter Knox of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, won; distance, 22 feet 4 inches. Ole Snedegar of the Olympic Club was second, and Ed Gibbs of Pasadena High School third.

220 yard run—P. C. Gehardt of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, won; time 2:04.5. Arthur J. Coar of the Los Angeles, was second.

440 yard run—Edward Macaulay of the Alameda High School, won; time 1:50.1. Seward Simmons, unattached, Los Angeles, was second, and Claude Moss of the Olympic Club third.

100 yard dash—Walter Knox of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, won; time 1:10.5. P. C. Gehardt of the Olympic Club was second and Arthur Coover of Los Angeles third.

Two mile run—Harry McLean, Phoenix Indian school, won; time 9:54. William Garvin of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, was second, and John Churley of Phoenix Indian school third.

Pole vault—Bella of Stanford University and Scott of Stanford tied for first, 11 feet 4 inches; A. T. Gibson of Ventura high school was third.

Throwing the hammer—Ralph Rose of the Olympic Club of San Francisco won; distance, 134 feet. Ole Snedegar of the Olympic Club was second.

Throwing the discus—Ralph Rose of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, won; distance, 129 feet. Ole Snedegar of the Olympic Club was second.

Levy Seeks Kaufman-Ketchel Fight

Levy's first announcement after he had taken over the management of the big blacksmith was to the effect that he would not be allowed to fight Johnson for some little time, but that he would be delighted to accommodate Stanley Ketchel or any other heavyweight in the market. "Kaufman will fight any man in the world, barring Johnson," said Levy, "but in due time he will also fight the champion and will be the third man from California to win the blue ribbon of the battle world. We will go to look tempting and then we will go right after the best of them and later we will be hot on the trail of Johnson."

The reasons for this change of affairs of Kaufman will bring out considerable speculation, but one of the things that appears more feasible than any other to me is the fact that Brady and Harvey tried to force Delaney to fight Johnson at a time when the veteran thought it advisable to let the colored man alone.

Yesterday Delaney received a message from Charlie Harvey that he did not like it. It was a very strong demand for a fight with Johnson. Delaney made up his mind to stop the whole thing right then and there and thus avoid pressure being brought to bear on him to allow Kaufman to fight. The new move that affairs have taken makes it seem that there will be no promoters in the air.

Corbett and Frayne Ready for Fight

Young Corbett and Johnnie Frayne are now nearing the completion of their training and are coming to the weight at which they will fight. Frayne is already down to the required 135 pounds and Corbett was yesterday reported as being down to 138 pounds. Which will mean that it will be easy for him to drop to the weight any time he sees fit. Corbett is a young man, in fact, as much as a championship does to some fighters. The reason for this is the fact that one is a young fighter, standing, as it were, at the bottom of the ladder of fame, with just a few steps to go to become prominent. The other is the man who has been in the very top and through his own indolence has slipped back to almost the level of the younger man. If bottom for some time, it will mean that that young man must stay at the way. Corbett will go flying into pugilistic oblivion, from whence he will never be able to return. Tiv Kreling will referee the contest and unless the trouble for both have agreed to fight at all times.

Ad Golaad is to be given a chance in show us what he can do, and if Nelson, over a long route at the lightweight champion, Battling Grapah Tom Jones, manager of Wolgast, offering him a match with "Fight-ing Dick" Hyland for a long-distance bout, to be held on August 14. Hyland has accepted, but nothing has yet been heard from Jones. Hyland also has an offer to go to Butte to fight some good man there on Labor Day.

GANDIL WILL FINISH SEASON WITH SENATORS

SACRAMENTO, July 15.—From present indications Chick Gandil, whose release has been purchased from the Shreveport club, the last first baseman of the Sacramento team, will not join the Chicago White Sox this year. When Comiskey demanded Gandil Manager Charles Gra-ham of the Sacramento team asked for two players in exchange.

Comiskey has written Graham that he could not get the two players, but thought the matter could easily be adjusted if the Sacramento club would grab Pyl of the Stockton club of the outlay league. This is not an easy matter to do, as Gandil will probably remain in Sacramento for the rest of the season. He will doubtless join the White Sox next year.

PAY $25 FOR BLUE-RIBBON CAT.

LONDON, July 15.—What is believed to be the highest price paid here for a domestic cat, namely $25, was given by Mrs. Lynas of Chicago for Rob Roy II, England's champion male chinchilla Persian cat and the winner of numerous prizes. The animal will be sent to the United States.

Danderine

Grows Hair
and we can PROVE IT!

DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows:
When I began using Danderine my hair would not grow. I was balding and my hair was very thin.
Another from Newark, N. J.
I have been using Danderine regularly. When I first started to use it I had very little hair. Now I have the most beautiful long and thick hair anyone would wish to have.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Danderine enjoys a greater sale than any other hair preparation regardless of kind or brand, and has much greater sale than all of the other hair preparations in the world combined.

Free To show how quickly Danderine grows hair, we will send a large sample free by mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO.

Clara Thropp, Petite Songstress,
Captivates With Voice and Manner

MISS CLARA THROPP, Who Is Appearing at the Bell
This Week in Clever Act

Miss Clara Thropp has established a new record for women's single turns at the Bell Theatre.
Sunday afternoon Mrs. Thropp took her audience to storm, and has since 11 o'clock of evening without an interval of rest. It is not so much what this little lady does but the way she does it, that captivates her audience. Her songs are all of the snappy variety that catches the audience and holds it till the last bow. Miss Thropp is at the Bell Theatre this week only, closing her engagement with the Saturday evening performance.

WOMAN'S NIGHTMARE
No woman can be happy without children; it is her nature to love them as much so as it is the beautiful and pure. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass is so full of dread that the thought fills her with apprehension. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either very painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend prepares the system for the coming event, and it is passed without any danger. This remedy is applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the crisis with but little suffering.
